Group delays port 'power play'

Peaceful Aug. 1 expected at plant

While there has been no final settlement of local work issues between the United Steelworkers and the Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corp., there will be "no strike or lockout" at the steel plant here, it was learned by the Press-Record today.

A steel company spokesman said there would be no lockout on the company's part following expiration of the July 15 deadline by which both the union and the company were to give final notice of work interruption plans. The United Steelworkers Union had announced earlier that there would be no strike. He declined to elaborate further except to say that there has been no signed contract involving the local issues. Scheduling of work—whether it is to be decided by the company or jointly with the union—is one of the unresolved issues in local negotiations.

Nationwide issues, including pay, were agreed to this spring by the United Steelworkers and major steel firms, including National Steel Corp., owner of Granite City Steel. The three-year contract has been signed and will become effective Aug. 1. In an unrelated matter involving the United Steelworkers, a strike by employees at the Granite City Steel Employees Federal Credit Union ended this month.

The Steelworkers now represent employees of the federal credit union, believed to be a first in Illinois, and health insurance, pay and vacations have been revised. Most members of the credit union are Granite City Steel employees.

With St. Charles, Mo., officials leading the criticism this week of a proposed regional port consolidation move, a delay was called for yesterday by the Port Development Task Force of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council. The task force delay decision and the stand by St. Charles officials were assailed at the meeting by retiring St. Louis County Supervisor Lawrence Roos.

Roos is chairman of East-West and his county executive assistant, Robert J. Baer, was chosen June 27 as new executive director of the Bi-State Development Agency.

East-West, a planning and coordinating agency, and Bi-State, which has extensive operating powers, would be merged under a proposed St. Louis Area Council of Government, but the "Slacog" plan appears to be a dead issue in both the Missouri and Illinois legislatures.

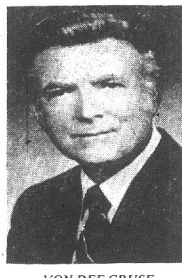

Roos, who switched from Slacog to strongly back Bi-State as the primary regional agency, with East-West urged to cooperate with it.

There is speculation Roos will be appointed as one of the five Missouri commissioners of Bi-State, four of the five Illinois posts, currently are filled, Roos then becoming a contender for the Bi-State chairmanship when he leaves East-West. His membership on East-West is by virtue of his office of county supervisor.

In recent weeks, some Missourians and Illinoisans contend, a "power play" has been developing in which Bi-State would seek to gain control of all Missouri and Illinois ports in this vicinity and also set itself up to control all regional airport decisions.

The principal device being utilized, it is asserted, is a "memorandum of understanding," which Bi-State and East-West board members have been under strong pressure to approve promptly.

However, St. Charles officials have applied to the new Missouri Department of

Port post to Cruse

Granite City Assessor Von Dee Cruse was seated as a Tri-City Regional Port District board member at the annual reorganization meeting Monday evening.

Appointed by Gov. Daniel Walker to a three-year term, Cruse replaces Carl E. Mathias, Illinois Power Co. service area manager.

John N. Belcoff, Madison city clerk and an officer of the First National Bank in Madison, was elected as president of the port district board for the July 1974-June 1975 year.

Avery Schermer, president of the Schermer Brothers Market, was elected as treasurer, succeeding Harold E. Hillmer, Granite City school employee relations administrator.

Carl A. Ranft was reappointed as secretary and port manager.

Randall Robertson was again named as attorney for the district. All of the actions were by a 6-0 vote. Only commissioner not present was Walter T. Simmons, clerk of the Mount Vernon district of the Appellate Court.

The four board members who are chosen by the governor now consist of Cruse, newly named to the board; Schermer, appointed a year ago replacing Harold R. Fischer, vice chairman, First Granite City National Bank; and Henry D. Karandjef, chairman of the Karandjef, chairman of the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank and also the American National Bank of Granite City, is the only remaining charter member, having joined the port district board when it was created in 1959. Huber, partner in the Feder and Huber Furniture Co., has served as a port commissioner since 1959.

Those chosen by the governor serve three-year terms and until a successor is named. Three local mayors each designate a board member

Construction is resuming

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer
Striking Teamsters who have shut down millions of dollars' worth of area construction projects since June 3 were returning to their jobs in the Quad-Cities and other parts of this Illinois metropolitan area yesterday after ratification of a contract offer by a majority of the striking locals.

Acceptance of the new agreement will mean resumption of work on major Quad-City area projects including the Route 203 highway improvement, the Doherty Slough interim drainage line, the Granite City Army Installation commissary and an $8 million classroom structure at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

An estimated $1 billion in construction work, shut down by the strike of teamsters in 13 locals of the Illinois Conference of Teamsters in 49 Illinois counties outside Cook County.

Members of locals 925 at Alton, 59 of Swansea and 347 at West Frankfort rejected the agreement overwhelmingly, but were outvoted by the favorable votes of the ten other locals in the Illinois Conference. The new contract, a three-year pact, is with the Southern Illinois Builders Association, the Central Illinois Builders Association and the Associated General Contractors. It provides for wage increases totaling $2.50 per hour over the three-year period, with drivers receiving 75 cents an hour retroactive to May 1, an additional 25 cents an hour on Nov. 1, another 75 cents an hour on May 1, 1975, and 75 cents on May 1, 1976.

Teamsters also will receive health and welfare benefits of 15 cents an hour and an additional 5 cents in pension benefits over the life of the new contract.

Previously teamsters received wages of $7.10 to $7.70 cents an hour depending upon the size of the truck they drove. That contract expired April 1.

While the seven-week strike delayed work on an estimated $400 million in major highway improvement work, construction officials said they now expect major construction work to continue uninterrupted during the rest of the summer.

Wayne Barber, executive director of the Southern Illinois Builders' Association, said tentative agreements with the Tri-County District Council of Carpenters and the Ironworkers

Survey sewer system

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Staff Writer
Two engineering firms were considered for employment by the Granite City Council Monday night to improve sanitary sewer service.

Mayor Paul Schuler was authorized by the council to enter into agreements with the two firms for proposed sewer work.

One firm, Flagg, Scheibel, Sherbat & Associates, Inc., Edwardsville, is to design sanitary sewer systems to serve homes in the Emerit and Zippel avenues area and residents on Norwood Drive.

The mayor also was authorized to enter into agreement with the Sverdrup & Parcel and Associates, Inc., St. Louis, for a comprehensive study of most of the city's existing sanitary sewer system which will conclude with a final report listing suggestions for solving sewer problems.

The Flagg, Scheibel, Sherbat

& Associates firm, if hired by Schuler, will survey and provide engineering for new sewers in two areas. Two parallel sewer lines from Norwood Road to Franklin Avenue are tentatively planned, one between Emerit and Gary avenues and the second between Emerit and Zippel avenues.

Another three-block-long sewer line is envisioned south of Norwood Drive, running from Old Alton Road to Ride Avenue. The fee will be based on actual hours worked and materials used, with a maximum fee of $1,600, the company stated in its proposal to the city. Engineering fees will be reimbursed as part of the sewer cost.

The firm is to research the projects, survey, provide engineering, obtain governmental approvals and prepare plans, specifications and cost estimates.

The city then will have to determine how best to finance the proposed projects, possibly with a bond issue which will be paid back by the residents using the new sewers.

Mayor Schuler told the council the new sewers will be installed at no cost to the city. He said whether the residents of those areas want to pay for the sewers in lump sum payments, have a bond issue or finance them with a loan will be the decision of the residents involved.

"The people should choose their own destiny, so to speak, as long as we get our money back," the mayor said.

The other firm Schuler was authorized to hire, Sverdrup & Parcel and Associates, is to conduct a survey, costing up to $30,000, of all sanitary sewers east of Nameoki Road and those sanitary sewers west of Nameoki Road and west and north of Granite City High School South.

Madison police shakeup possible

There are strong indications that there will be a shakeup in the membership of the Madison city police department, the Press-Record has learned.

The expectation is that there will be a change in the mayor of the department, with some current officers no longer to remain on active duty.

Meanwhile, the city is preparing to take action against a Madison tavern, believed to have been subject of a hearing Monday afternoon.

Explosive allegations are said to have been aired at the hearing.

On June 24, Madison police arrested two women in Big Jenny's Tavern, 1112 State St., charging them with prostitution.

At the same time they charged Jenny Huey, 41, of the State Street address, with keeping a place of prostitution. The tavern was ordered closed pending hearings and trials. Madison police said they had investigated activities at the tavern for a month preceding the arrests. They were aided in the investigation by Madison County sheriff's deputies.

It was alleged that solicitation occurred at the tavern and that acts took place in a house at the rear of 1110 State.

Efforts to reach Mayor Mike Stank today for comment on the potential police shakeup were unsuccessful.

Church burglary

A burglar, believed wearing tennis shoes, entered First Presbyterian Church, 22nd Street and Delmar Avenue, and stole items that included a tape recorder and two record players, it was reported at 8:20 a.m. Wednesday.

Police said they found tennis shoe prints on the freshly waxed floors in almost every room of the church. Nearly all cabinets in the building were opened and searched.

A rear basement window was pried open in what is believed to have been an unsuccessful entry attempt.

A pane of glass was removed from the front door, and the burglar reached inside the door to unlock the door, it is believed. Church officials were attempting to determine if anything else was stolen.

"The installation of the improper type of joint and associated remedial maintenance is the responsibility of the local levee district."

"Any grievances concerning the levees should be directed to the levee district," the Army engineer concluded.

Mayor Mike Sasyk told the council that the matter is still being studied. He expressed hope that repairs can be made at minimal costs.

A letter from Walter H. Franke of the Illinois Division of Air Pollution Control told the council that residents in Madison still are violating air pollution laws by burning trash.

The letter noted that in less than two months, the regulation prohibiting open burning at private residences will have been on the books for three years.

Chief of Police Frank Dutko informed the council he has advised the police department to be alert for trash burning violations.

John Belcoff, city clerk, announced that examinations for the licensing of masseurs and masseuses in Madison will be given on Monday, Aug. 26, at 3 p.m. at the Madison City Hall.

Before taking the examination, a written application must be filled out at least seven days before the exam and a $50 fee paid.

BLOOD DONORS DURING SUMMER SHORTAGE. ## Bloodmobile unit at Madison church today

Blood donors from churches participating in the Quad-City Church Women United — Red Cross blood program are being urged to take part in today's donor session at St. Mary's Catholic Church, 10th Street and Alton Avenue, Madison.

The Red Cross bloodmobile unit will be stationed at the church from 2 p.m. until 6:45 p.m. today.

Members of any contributing church who have been unable to give blood at three earlier sessions this week are urged to do so today to meet the necessary quota. Mrs. Helen Baran, Church Women United blood chairman, said.

Blood is guaranteed for a 12-month period to participating congregations if 25 per cent of each church membership donates blood through the Red Cross program in a given year.

Blood donor drives are scheduled in July and December by the local church women as donations are lower and stockpiles greatly reduced at these specific times, Mrs. Baran explained.

to Cong. Melvin Price of this district. A copy was presented to council members at the meeting.

Col. Peterson said in his letter to Cong. Price that a study had been made to determine if installation of the Madison pumping station had created the problem of leaking joints in the 94-inch storm sewer.

The study indicated, Col. Peterson said, that the design and construction of the pumping station—located on the grounds of the Granite City Army Installation—did not affect the ground level or cause the present sewer problems.

The East Side Levee and Sanitary District's method of operating the pumping station also appears to be satisfactory, he added.

"Our investigations indicate, however, that the sewer constructed in the early 1960s under the direction of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District is, in fact, the cause of the sewer failures."

"Rubber seal joints were called for in plans prepared by a consulting engineering firm for the East Side Levee and Sanitary District."

"The local levee district was aware of the pumping station construction and the inherent flooded sewers during blocked drainage flood pumping operation," Col. Peterson's letter continued.

Government and the Media

By Prof. John A. Regnell

(Dr. Regnell is chairman of the department of mass communications and director of broadcasting services for Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. His opinions are his own, and do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the faculty or administrators of SIUE.)

Recently, the American Broadcasting Company filed papers in the U.S. District Court for the Central District of California calling for White House, Justice Department, Watergate prosecution and other documents. It is hoped by ABC that these might support its claim that the government's antitrust suit against the networks was designed to suppress them.

But whatever the facts, relations between the executive branch of the government, and to some extent the Congress, and the mass media have been deteriorating for several years.

To look upon the adversary situation between government and media as a recent phenomenon is a mistake. Moreover, to look upon it as dangerous or something to be corrected, is to misunderstand the importance of the media in a free society. This adversary relationship was well understood by the founding fathers, as they gave a privileged position to the press and urged upon it the widest possible dissemination of divergent and antagonistic views. Thomas Jefferson himself suffered under unwarranted attacks from the press, but was unwilling, though provoked to desperation, to consider curbs on press freedom. If the press was not available and able to act as a check on government abuses and excesses, then what organ of society was there to perform this indispensable function in an open society? The current situation between the adversaries is seen as being more intense than at other times in our history, and the reasoning generally has to do with opinions about motives on both sides. Is the government out to muzzle the media? Are the media, and specifically the networks, out to "get" the administration? In short, is there an effort on either side to change the adversary relationship rather than to deal with issues as they emerge?

Activities of the Federal Communications Commission, the Federal Trade Commission, and the Office of Telecommunications Policy have worried broadcasters. They feel that pressures through these agencies as well as the Department of Justice constitute a real threat to their ability to maintain a vigorous industry which can operate in the public interest. They cite the banning of certain advertising from the air, the imposition of license and operating fees, the discriminatory aspects of the Federal Campaign Elections Act, the anti-trust suit against the networks, and the current Justice Department threat to multi-media ownership with the possibility of an FCC rule on divestiture of co-located newspapers and VHF television stations. Add to this, inquiries by Congress into broadcasting operations, and it might well seem that government is taking more than a healthy interest in the industry.

Other than the presumed motive of silencing criticism from the press, what reason could there be for the recent incursions, and specifically the antitrust suit against the networks? In a broad sense, the answer given is that the power of the media can weaken the ability of the government to govern.

Whether or not one agrees with this view, it is true that one of the major concerns of the regulation of broadcasting in the public interest has been to curb monopolistic practices in order to preserve diverse ownership, and therefore, presumably, insure many voices and views on the scene. Recent data indicates that media ownership is shifting from visible professional entrepreneurs, as in the past, to money managers who can control many influential media at one time. As an example, U.S. banks own more than 33% of four major media companies: CBS Inc., DuPont & Bradstreet, ABC Inc., and Capital Cities Broadcasting. This group controls 2 networks, 21 television stations, 38 radio stations, and 35 publications of various kinds. Banks hold 24% of Time Inc., 24% of Metro-media, and 20% of Times Mirror. Congress is concerned with this oligopolistic situation to the extent that it could impede the free flow of information to the public. A committee under Senators Muskie and Metcalf is preparing a corporate ownership study.

Again, assumptions about motives are made. Does "bigness" necessarily mean "badness"? Many feel it does, and that the effect of concentrated control of the media can only be a more restricted amount and kind of information available to the public. But whatever the tactics used on either side, the important consideration for the public is that the adversary relationship be maintained, and that neither side becomes powerful enough to weaken it. Though there are numerous countries in the world where the politicians have seized power and muzzled the media, there is no country in the world where the press has seized power and muzzled the politicians.

Officers vote to join United Steelworkers

Members of the Madison police department have organized into a union and affiliated with the United Steelworkers of America, it was announced this week.

An organization meeting was held at the police station Monday evening with Buddy Davis, Steelworkers staff representative. Ten of the 14 members were said to have signed membership cards at the meeting.

A letter was sent yesterday to city officials advising them of the action and requesting recognition of the group for purposes of collective bargaining. A formal charter has not yet been issued, nor has a local number been designated.

Youths arrested at police station

Four young people, were arrested after appearing at the Granite City Police Department at 11:15 p.m. Wednesday to air complaints.

Robert Galbraith, 20, of 38 Victoria Drive, Pontiac, was charged with criminal damage to property after he allegedly kicked a door of an auto occupied by three 18-year-old girls at Johnson and Nameoki Roads.

The girls, Barbara Heil, O'Fallon, Robin Scarbrough, 2515 Lynch Ave., and Susan Goetting, 2826 Edwardsville Road, were charged with disorderly conduct after Galbraith alleged they threw an egg at his car.

Galbraith said he chased the car to the Johnson-Nameoki intersection and then followed it to the police station.

NEW EXECUTIVES. Mrs. Marilyn C. Harris, newly appointed assistant secretary of the Madison County Federal Savings and Loan Association, and David F. Gordon, who will head the M.C.F. Services, Inc., a new service corporation formed by Madison County Federal to deal in mortgage banking and appraisal activities. Their appointments were announced this week.

Savings-loan firm expands services

Directors of Madison County Federal Savings and Loan Association have announced the appointment of Mrs. Marilyn C. Harris as assistant secretary of the association and the formation of a new service corporation here.

The new corporation M.C.F. Financial Services, Inc., 3600 Nameoki Road, primarily will deal in mortgage banking and appraisal activities.

Owned by Madison County Federal, the service firm will be headed by David F. Gordon, SRA, as executive vice-president.

Presently a resident of Belleville, where he is a real estate appraiser-broker, Gordon was chief appraiser for McFentile Mortgage Company in the early 1950's and more recently a fee appraiser in this area.

His wife, Dolores, formerly was a teller at First National Bank of Granite City. The Gordons and their daughters, Deirdre, 15, are planning to return to the Granite City area, a company spokesman said.

Mrs. Harris and her husband, Robert A. Harris, reside at 89 Shirwin Drive in Arlington Heights. They have two children, Anne, 17, and Brad, 15.

The association's new assistant secretary rejoined Madison County Federal in February 1973 after an absence of several years. She serves as a private secretary to A. H. Froemling, association president.

standards probably would prefer their lives somewhat curtailed by smog to the indignity of unemployment. But such choices are made only in a society with a history of putting debtors in prison, the unfortunate in exile and the ecology in hock.

To leave social planning up to business always abandons the future to the main chance and to short range speculation. Regulation is required. One may hope that where there is some advance in political practice of social and environmental morality, there will be commensurate progress in the creation of a world that is less dispiriting visually.

Unfortunately, experience with bureaucracies does not bring one to raptures of ecstatic hopefulness. For planning committees, smug in the arrogance of what passes for expertise, have often adopted programs that are examples of insensitivity gone astray to the point of madness. One had only to drive by St. Louis' planned slum, Pruitt-Igloe, to observe the evils brought forth by the goad of mentalities. But most, if not all, of the horrors of Pruitt-Igloe were anticipated by street-wise observers and inhabitants.

One must extend more power to planners than to businesses or builders. But also, I think, more power must go to local opinion than to the planners themselves—within certain governing parameters. (Not everything that seems commonsensical has turned out to be workable.) We can be fairly certain of responsible behavior since people do not really like the things that have been imposed upon them. For instance, where is the champion of power lines and telephone wires above the streets, aloft on ugly wooden poles? There is none.

Of course, it is far easier to say what beauty is not than to say what it is. But to avoid visual pollution, all that is required is the suppression of the worst. Doubtless, the folk will prefer designs in the mode of John Portman's hotels or Disneyworld anachronisms to the rationality of Buckminster Fuller, Moshe Safdie or I. M. Pei. Yet, given the endless follies of the common man, what can be more prudent than to provide consolation for him? In any case, what highbrows used to think was horrid, they now find worthy of collecting. One ought never take professors of art and design so seriously as they take themselves.

Even if we were all to agree on the desirability of creating a more humane and attractive land, there would remain the question of feasibility. Can the nation, in fact, afford it? Given our present priorities, surely not. But given the values those priorities represent, neither will we have adequate housing, decent transportation, realistic welfare programs, just treatment of minorities, nor air and water that are not full of poisons.

Visual Pollution

By Prof. John Adkins Richardson

(Dr. Richardson is professor of art and design at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. His art appreciation text, "Art: The Way It Is," was published recently. His opinions are his own, and do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the faculty or administrators of SIUE.)

America grows ugly. Her cities are deficient for living and her landscapes have been devastated to give mass asylum in the suburbs. Along commuter routes, above deserts of asphalt and concrete, a chaos of signs and signals competes with the shabby clamor of the drive-in world. These garish distractions and the billboards afflicting the countryside are invitations to depravity. And, if this seems to you too strongly put, it is only because your senses have already been atrophied by the constant din of the visual clutter.

Still, it is easy to see why alarm over ugliness and litter is greeted with disdain. Most people, if pressed, would probably confess that any sort of environmental planning concerns them only when it becomes a practical necessity or an imposed annoyance. Even radical reformers see beauty as something very far down on the list of desirable objectives. Indeed, to them it seems utmost folly for anyone to be worrying about the aesthetics of life when others are dying of malnutrition and disease.

But the idea is wholly false which claims that ugliness and human exploitation are separate phenomena. On the contrary, they have a distinct affinity and overlap. Both proceed from a meanness of spirit whose principal ingredient is an exclusive material conception of value. And it is no accident that Richard Nixon was the first President openly to enunciate the axiom that the people

Deadly gas and radiation are just part of their job

By JOAN MEURBAO

SPRINGFIELD — In a metropolitan area, a small part of a valve falls at a major chemical plant's storage area and a deadly gas silently begins seeping out.

In a quiet farm area, a string of freight cars in less than top condition rumbles along a roadbed in definitely poor condition, and a section jumps the track. Nitric acid begins to drip from a ruptured tank car and a sinister brown cloud moves across a wheat field, leaving the grain whirled, brown and dead wherever it has touched.

Late on a stormy afternoon a plane explodes in mid-air, scattering debris which includes two containers of an unspecified radioactive material over a large part of a highly populated area.

These things all happened in Illinois in recent months. They weren't isolated incidents. In all, 71 such episodes happened in the state last year, all serious enough for one or more Environmental Protection Agency engineers to be sent to the scene by the agency's Emergency Action Center.

Current reports so far this year indicate there will be about 140 before the year ends, or twice as many as last year.

Through cooperation with major producers, really tough ones can be identified by taking samples to the nearest industrial lab where plant chemists and the most sophisticated equipment can speedily give the danger a specific name.

The intervening period can be both dangerous and nerve-wracking. Hoyle says he has sat with other engineers near a tank car where a small steady leak of nitric acid was pooling, and it seemed that at any minute the trickle would turn into a four-inch-wide, spurting of the deadly material if the remainder of a disintegrating valve failed. On contact with air the acid was forming a deadly cloud which burned away most of a nearby field of wheat merely by rolling over it. The engineers obtained large quantities of lime and built two concentric dams around the pool to neutralize the liquid acid. Then there was nothing to do but wait for the relief car which would pump the remaining acid from the tank car.

Fortunately, no human lungs came into contact with that cloud.

"In fact," Hoyle says, "Somebody is looking after us. Every major incident we've had we've been lucky — they've been in isolated areas without people, or the wind was in just the one right direction to blow dangerous fumes away from population.

Neither civilians nor agency personnel have been seriously injured in an episode in the state so far.

Hoyle doesn't state the obvious fact that nobody stays lucky forever. But the agency is currently in a crash program to implement the second phase of their overall activity — trying to keep incidents from happening.

At the direction of Gov. Dan Walker a task force is working to draw up rules and regulations to be presented to the state Pollution Control Board, governing inspection procedures, an inventory of hazardous materials, procedures for use in emergencies and a system for reporting malfunctions.

Hoyle stresses that speed in reporting and responding are critical in these cases. In a serious case involving a chemical which forms cyanide when it combines with water, the EPA only has about nine hours after the chemical began to leak. Railroad accidents are frequently not reported promptly, he says, and often the EPA or civil defense agency will only be told when a passing state trooper or other officer just happens to pass the scene, and reports it.

To make reporting simpler, Hoyle's office has been circulating their Emergency Action Center 24-hour phone number: (217) 782-3637. The last four digits just happen to spell EMER, making it easier to remember.

Hoyle's staff is grateful for every hour which doesn't produce a crisis call, but they all know that right now, somewhere in Illinois, a chemical-laden barge is nearing a bridge piling, or a train is rolling toward a broken rail or a valve is losing its ability to hold or . . .

School aid is in works for Guard

SPRINGFIELD — Army veterans may qualify for assistance to attend a state-run university or community college. No money is being sent to the state for the program, which is in Army ROTC programs.

Soon, members of the Illinois National Guard, both Army and Air — may join that list.

Legislation recently introduced in the House would allow any member of the ING, who has served at least one year of duty, to attend, tuition-free, any state university or community college. Of course, the guardman must meet all entrance requirements.

Many see the passage of this bill as a boon to the slowly decreasing ranks of the ING. Since the institution of "Zero Draft" in July, 1973, the authorized strength level began a downward trend.

In December, 1973, however, we hit the lowest peak," said Major Carl O. Johnson, 139th Public Information Detachment. "Since that time we have begun to edge back up."

As of May 31, the statewide strength was 143 members under the authorized level. The total number of guardmen in Illinois, both Army and Air units, was 11,378 for a 98.5 per cent level.

Sponsored by Rep. Gerald Shea, D-Riverside, and 38 cosponsors, the bill would also terminate the scholarship should the holder leave the state.

Ever since the end of the draft, the Department of Defense has been experimenting with incentives to keep enlistment up," the Major said. "This is a part of that benefit program."

Just between the ING announced the start of two new enlistment programs, the "44" and "44A." The first option allows any man or woman, with no prior service, to join the Guard for a three-year obligation of drill participation followed by two years of inactive duty. The second option calls for four years of drill participation followed by two years of inactive duty.

The Air Guard has adopted the "44A" option for "certain hard skill career fields." Major Johnson gave these projected loss figures for the Air ING based on the number of guardsmen whose enlistment ends during the years indicated: for calendar year 1974, 2,145; 1975, 2,075; 1976, 3,171; 1977, 2,342; 1978, 1,877; and 1979, 285.

"Some of these men will re-enlist," he pointed out. "However, it is hoped that through some of these new benefit programs, more will choose to stay in and more will choose to join the Guard."

He believed the scholarship provision would be an incentive to many high school seniors.

Honesty is not enough to avoid political pitfalls

Editor's Note: The pitfalls in politics are many, but there are various types of officials, some of whom are able to survive in the political world with their reputations for integrity intact. Secretary of State Michael Hall, a veteran who has avoided political traps, describes here the temptations that face office holders and legislation needed to reduce such temptations.

REPORTER. Where is the first place a candidate for public office can stub his toe?

HOWLETT. I suppose the first thing you have to do after you decide to seek office is decide who you and your family can live on the income. If you can't, you should seek some other field of endeavor because there are too many opportunities for a man to make a mistake and get himself in trouble.

Q. Is honesty enough, or can you be tripped up unconsciously?

A. I would like to say that honesty is not enough. I suppose that is something we have a right to expect from anybody right at the beginning, that should be basic. But unfortunately I don't think it's enough. You have to know how to protect yourself.

One of the best bits of advice I ever received, the man didn't know he was giving it to me. I was at a lunch with Col. Jack Arvey, who has been in politics all his life, and he made an observation which is true: "Political reputations are seldom ruined by the principal; they're often destroyed by his subordinates." So you have to make sure your office is organized so there are not too many people making decisions in your name that could prove embarrassing to you.

Q. It seems there are basically three ways an official gets in trouble — through contributions, overzealous campaign workers and through subordinates once he gets in office. How do you guard against that?

A. You have to get the best advice to set up what accounts that you can. But with all of that, there is no substitute for an honest man in other words, a sensible person working for him.

Q. How can you determine that? We've all seen so many cases where supposedly honest people have led us down the primrose path.

A. You have to, first of all, trust your own instincts about people, and, where you can, take precautions. In people we're for investigators — an area that could be bad if not handled right — we give them all the red test. The red test is a psychological test to determine, under certain circumstances, whether or not you would do certain things. Since it is absolutely not foolproof, when a man doesn't get a good mark on the test, we give him a chance to explain it. We also give him a chance to take a lie test before we turn him down.

Q. What about the whole grey area of campaign contributions? How does a guy running for office the first time know what to accept and what to turn down?

A. Most times when you run for office I think you pretty much know, in keeping with the kind of office you run for, when people give you a contribution what their motives are. If a person gives you a contribution of $100, $200 or $500, many times they do it out of friendship or they do it because all they expect is fairness out of your office. When the campaign contribution gets large, you better know where it's coming from and you better know you have an understanding with the person from whom you received it.

Walter Browning dies at 71

Teamsters Local 688 and belonged to the Washington Park Baptist Church.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Carol E. Browning; two sons, Yank Browning, St. Paul, Calif., and Jimmy Gallion of Potosi Beach, and four grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Q. Would a limit on campaign contributions, keyed to various types of offices, impede what has been happening?

A. I think what we have to do is establish some type of limit depending on the office for which you run. But when you establish that limit, you have to also have to put a limit on what a man can spend of his own money.

Q. Did you set a limit on the amount of individual contributions you would accept in your campaigns for state auditor or secretary of state?

A. I ran for auditor. I never had any problem on that because there are not that many people interested in making contributions for somebody running for auditor.

Q. But there would be for secretary of state.

A. For Secretary of State we did it on a different basis. We decided on the individual whether to take his money or not.

Q. Did anybody offer you any unusually large sums?

A. No.

Q. Did you ever have the feeling somebody was trying to influence you with their contributions?

A. I don't know of any case of that so far.

Q. What about campaign financial disclosures?

A. I would not, at this time, disclose people that contributed to my campaign on the basis that you should never reveal a man's name who gave to a political campaign or gave to charity unless he knew when he gave that his name was going to be revealed.

Q. I was referring to a law for mandatory disclosure so people would know in advance. Would that have an effect?

A. I sure would. It would keep a lot of people from contributing. But I think probably the only solution to the whole thing is complete disclosure of campaign funds.

Q. Do you believe it would be a good idea?

WHAT ABOUT RETIREMENT?

Q. I know that by the time I reach retirement age, I will need 40 quarters of coverage to be eligible for Social Security benefits. I already have 30 quarters and I expect to be able to pick up the other 10 quarters before I become 62. How much can I expect to receive when I reach retirement age? — G.Z.

A. It's difficult to predict exactly what the amount will be. The minimum amount payable now to a 65-year-old retired worker is $55.80 per month. There is a provision in the law to increase benefits as the cost of living rises, so the minimum amount payable when you reach retirement age could be substantially higher than the present level.

Q. I worked for 27 years, but for the last four years I have been occupied only as a housewife. Someone told me I won't be eligible for Social Security because I have not worked since 1969. This seems unbelievable to me. — Mrs. R.J.M.

A. Social Security officials tell me you have nothing to worry about. Your right to benefits is not dependent on work in recent years. It's your overall work record that counts and that includes any work covered by Social Security from 1937 on.

cut down on the attempts to peddle or buy influence?

A. I think so.

Q. Contracts are another area where public officials get into trouble. What can be done there to lessen the opportunity for collusion?

A. What we try to do is make sure there are a lot of bids on everything. You have to keep it out in the open and keep it competitive. I don't think an agency that lets the contracts should ever open the bids.

Q. Scandals, which once seemed to be the exception, seemed to be happening every day in Washington, Illinois and Chicago. Why?

A. I think it's a question of new laws that are responsible for it more than anything else.

Q. What sort of new laws?

A. First of all you have the rights of prosecutors to give immunity, which they didn't have to such an extent before. You've got a thing called the Hobbs Act that puts great restrictions on public officials that they've never had before.

The Hobbs Act basically says an official can't receive anything of a value that has to do with the administration of his office. . . . There are many things being done by the federal courts that were only done by state courts in years gone by.

Q. Are you saying corruption existed at the same levels before but that there weren't these areas of detection?

A. I just think there were not the laws to take care of them before. In many cases the state agencies didn't have the money to do it.

Q. If you were to draft a master program to prevent political abuse of any type, what would it include?

A. Disclosure is probably the major thing. And also you have to put in controls to lessen the temptation. . . . Any public official should be barred for a period of years of going into business which he has controlled, like the securing of the interior should be barred from going to work for Standard Oil. . . . There is no substitute for opening the windows, letting the sun shine in and getting it out into the light of day.

Wojcik head grid coach at South High and Gunderson at Prather

The Granite City Board of Education, in a meeting Tuesday night, confirmed the appointment of Stanley Wojcik as head football coach at Granite City High School and to replace former coach Wayne Williams.

Williams, in a letter to the board on June 24, resigned his position in the school district to accept an assistant football coaching position at Illinois State University at Normal.

B. J. Davis, superintendent of Granite City public schools, told the Press-Record, "Stan will do a good job. We have high regard for him and he has been involved in a very successful football program with Williams."

The board also appointed Gunderson to the position of head football mentor at Prather Junior High School and Terry Yates as his assistant.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

Thurs., July 18, 1974 Page 6

Gunderson is replacing Al Sonnenberg, who resigned effective at the end of the 1973-74 school year.

A graduate of Madison High School where he was a standout football player, Wojcik joined Granite City District Nine in 1962 after graduating from Kentucky's Murray State College, where he earned a master's degree in physical education.

He was appointed in June 1962 as an assistant football coach and social studies teacher at Granite City High School. Wojcik began his career at GCBS as an assistant to Coach Al Lewis and for the past five years served as an assistant to Wayne Williams.

During that time, he also served four years as an assistant soccer coach and one year as athletic trainer at the local high school.

The 36-year-old football coach resides with his wife, Ruth, at 3132 Princeton Drive.

Gunderson had two years of teaching experience before joining the staff at Prather Junior High in August 1967.

He is a 1966 graduate of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, where he majored in social studies.

After his appointment to Prather, he served four years as an assistant coach, as an assistant baseball coach for three years, and as head baseball coach one year.

Yates, a lifelong resident of the Quad-City area, also is a graduate of SIUC with a degree in geography.

He taught in the Granite City school system for one year at Parkview Grade School before his appointment as a social studies instructor at Prather.

Supt. Davis described the three coaches as "well qualified to fulfill the duties."

Legion rail one run short

American Legion Post 113 of Granite City enters its 8 p.m. season finale at Cahokia tomorrow with a 9-10 record and a 22nd District record after having a six-game winning streak snapped last evening in losing 5-4 to East St. Louis at Wilson Park.

"We lost the game on a 3-2 pitch," commented Post 113's Coach Conrad Champion, "with the tying and winning runs at second and third, we struck out."

The "Granite City Legionnaires held a 3-1 margin going into the sixth inning.

Post 113 scored two runs in the second, Jim Koffa walked, Mike Stanton and Paul Mushill singled and Greg Linhart reached base on an error.

Granite City made it 3-1 in the fifth when Bill Carr walked, stealing second, advanced to third on a bad throw at second base and scored on a sacrifice fly off the bat of Koffa.

East St. Louis rallied with three runs in the sixth for a 4-3 edge going into the seventh, and added a fifth run in the final inning.

Mike Martinez led off the last of the final for Post 113 with a hit and Carr was hit by pitch. With two away, Mushill got an infield hit, scoring Martinez, and then came the strikeout.

Highland regained its top spot in the standings after topping second-place Fairview Heights Tuesday 4-3. In other contests this week, East St. Louis lost a doubleheader, 12-8 and 3-0, to Cahokia and O'Fallon shut out Alton 14-0.

Checked flag is earned by Jones here last night

Bobby Jones of Danville, Ill., showed Quad-City area racing fans last night why his name highlights many of the nation's sports stories.

Set in a special sprint race spectacular at Tri-City Speedway last evening, Jones was the only driver to officially finish the 16-lap feature race when he took the checked flag of victory after lapping every car on the track, including Missouri's Bill Utz.

Utz was the evening's fastest qualifier with a time of 22.98 seconds on the half-mile dirt oval.

Jones, a former Tri-City Speedway sprint car stand-out, won the night race in two trials with a 23.25-second time. He captured his heat race and posted his 17th feature race victory of the season after leading the 18-car field from start to finish. Utz finished second and Springfield's Jimmy Moughan was third.

Noting his style of riding the high groove on the track, Jones told the Press-Record, "The bottom portion of the track is usually slick. At the top there is a dirt cushion that I can lean my right rear tire against and really get power on the ground in the corners."

The only event he did not win was the handicap race for the six fastest qualifiers. Jones placed second behind Missouri's Tom Corbin in that event.

Other sprint race victors were: Utz, first heat, and Wood River's Ron Milton the consolation event.

Granite City driver Gary Barker headed the sportsman stock car racing program on the quarter-mile oval.

Barker got off to a bad start in the first heat race when he crashed his car on the eighth lap of the 10-lap feature race.

Wolfeimer finished second behind him and Granite City's Larry Yates was third. Yates earlier captured the second heat race.

The next installment of super-sprint racing at the local speedway will be held on Aug. 14.

GC Park budget clears hearing

Final adoption of the Granite City Park District budget, which sets a total of $732,427 for operation of local parks and programs in 1974-75, will take place at a recessed meeting of the board of park commissioners on Saturday, July 27, Frank R. Rea, board secretary, said today.

No changes in the proposed budget resulted from a public hearing held at 5 p.m. Tuesday at the Wilson Park office, Rea said.

Under the provision of a new law, the tentative budget must be posted for public inspection for 30 days and open to review at a public hearing. The board's July 24 meeting will precede the 30-day posting period which ends July 26, the park district officer explained.

The new budget is $83,008 lower than last year's appropriation which included $120,000 to construct a new maintenance building at Wilson Park.

The local nine added a run in the third as Turner tripled and scored on a fly to centerfield by Kowalczyk.

Bellville pulled to within one run by scoring three in the fourth before V-M scored in the same inning.

Frank Stroehmer singled and beat a throw to home plate when Bob Shipley tripled to right field.

Winning Pitcher Dave Hamilton allowed Bellville to score once in the seventh before retiring the side on strikeouts.

The victory gave Post 307 a 3-15 record going against O'Fallon at 8 p.m. Saturday at O'Fallon.

A Lee Park home game Sunday at 2 p.m. with Cahokia will wrap up the 1974 season.

Free-style wrestling to continue

Granite City High School South matman Phil Lapinski defeated five consecutive foes during the weekend in free-style wrestling competition at Forest Park Community College, St. Louis, to capture the 115-pound junior division championship.

In the college division of the meet, former GCHS South wrestler Kevin Niebur of Southeast Missouri State took top honors in the 150-pound competition.

Warrior state standout John Niebur, 182 pounds, won four straight matches and placed second in the championship bout on a referee's decision after wrestling his opponent to a 6-4 draw. South's Brian Wilson took runner-up honors in the 165-pound division.

Lapinski and seven other Granite City matmen will pair with wrestlers from Belleville, Cahokia, East St. Louis, Collinsville, Edwardsville and other cities to take on the "cream of the crop" from Oklahoma at 7 p.m. Monday at Cahokia High School in an annual all-star free-style tournament.

Lapinski, a two-time state high school qualifier, will team with Steve Garland to head the 115-pound challenge. Lapinski was out for much of this past school season with an injury, but returned in time to compile a 8-5 mark and reach the state tourney.

Granite City's Jim Caschetta and Belleville's Jim Reizer will take on competitors at 166 pounds. Caschetta was a state school mat meet entry and Reizer was a runner-up at the school state meet.

Eric Schmeisser and Belleville's Bruce Mitchell will be taking on 123-pound opponents.

John Niebur, fifth in the state with a 32-2 record, will be at 132 pounds along with STUE's Ernest Munson.

Terry Johnson will join forces with East St. Louis Lincoln's Rick Sliger in 154-pound competition.

Top free-style star Brian Wilson and Belleville's Althoff's Tim Thomas will make up the 165-pound categories.

Wilson won fourth place honors for GCHS State and the state wrestling tourney in March, closing his junior season with a 29-2 record.

In a summertime Granite City free-style sectional, Wilson earned the most falls trophy by pinning each of his four opponents.

GC tackle grid teams enter three divisions

The Little Rascals Boys Football Club of Granite City, which will double its tackle football program this year by adding two more teams, plans a Junior PeeWee division team and a second Midget Division team.

The four Granite City teams are to play home and away league games in the Tri-County Junior Football Conference starting Sept. 7.

The Granite City organization is one of 16 groups in the conference providing tackle football competition for boys in their own weight and age divisions.

The other cities are Alton, Collinsville, Wood River, Cahokia, Fairview Heights, O'Fallon, Columbia, Millstadt and Bethalto. Belleville and Dupu each have two organizations in the conference.

This year 82 teams are registered in four Tri-County age and weight divisions.

The Granite City teams will compete in the Jr. PeeWee, PeeWee, and Midget divisions.

The Jr. PeeWee division is for boys weighing 65 pounds or less and who are nine years old or younger.

The PeeWee division will consist of boys who have not reached the age of 11 before

Sept. 2 of the current year and who weigh 85 pounds or less, and also, 11-year-old boys who weigh 75 pounds or less.

The Midget Division will consist of boys weighing 115 pounds or less during the season and who have not reached the age of 13 before Sept. 2, and also 13-year-old boys who weigh 190 pounds or less.

Persons interested in helping the Little Rascals organization in its expanded program—head coach, assistant coach, director, player-parent representative and other positions—are to contact its president, Bob Patrick, before the first practice session of Aug. 10.

Highland-Pierson will take on Mercer's nine at 2 p.m. Sunday at Wilson Park as Illinois Inter-City Baseball League action begins its 14th weekend of competition.

Both teams are in the league's Red Division; Mercer is 6-5 and Highland-Pierson is 4-6.

Highland-Pierson ended Sunday's contest off a loss to Alton early this week and Mercer took a forfeit to Livingston.

Mercer's forfeit came in the 10th inning with the score tied when Shortstop Rich Schardan and Leftfielder Harvey Breckner collided on the field, leaving too few players to continue.

Both players were knocked unconscious in the accident and Schardan was revived immediately but Breckner swallowed his tongue.

Schardan's brother, Steve, pried Breckner's mouth open and placed his tongue back in its proper position. Breckner was revived with artificial respiration.

The two players were taken to a St. Louis hospital, where they were examined and released.

The effect of the accident on Mercer's performance the rest of the season remains to be seen.

Breckner is reported well and ready to play this Sunday but Rich Schardan is very doubtful as a starter.

Schardan consulted a physician this week. He has chest injuries and suffers from bleeding from the right ear.

He had been the local squad's second leading batter this season with a .231 average. Dave Huddleston is at the top of the list with a .406 batting mark.

Other league games on tap this weekend are Livingston at East Alton, and Panama at Piasa.

Red Division leader, Troy, at 9-2, drew a bye.

East Alton leads the Blue Division standings with a 6-2 record. Trailing are Piasa 4-5, Panama 4-6 and Livingston 2-7.

Pirate tryouts

Youths between 16 and 21 years of age who are planning to attend tomorrow's and Saturday's Pittsburgh Pirates baseball tryouts are being reminded to report, initially, to the high school field at Columbia, Ill., at 10 a.m. tomorrow and be prepared to drill until 3 p.m.

The camp will be held under the direction of Scouting Supervisor Bob Kring. American Legion players are to bring written permission from either their coach or from the commander of the post for which they play.

ICE HOCKEY CLINIC GRADUATES. Six local young men spent a week at Michigan State University, Lansing, Mich., as representatives of the Granite City Park District learning the finer points of ice hockey. Left to right are Dennis Bacos, Danny Kerkovich, Mike Scannell, Ray Deion, Steve Estes and Todd McFarland. The young athletes also gained pointers in such other sports as baseball, football and swimming.

With Tri-City Speedway's mid-season championship race to be held on July 26, tomorrow's late model and sportsman class stock car racing program at the local track looms an important day for Pontoon Beach's Wil Spalding and Missouri's Len Gittemeier.

Only 75 points separate the two leaders in point standings after Gittemeier, with just three years experience, posted the point lead away from the veteran driver last Friday.

The St. Charles driver has 1,410 points and Spalding, 1,335. Spalding had a 105-point lead over Gittemeier going into last week's racing program but his race car developed mechanical problems early in the evening and they continued throughout.

Gittemeier garnered points in three events, including capturing the feature race.

The importance of tomorrow's program is that whoever holds the point lead going into the mid-season event will start the championship race on the pole position—the place in front of the lineup of cars—considered a big advantage.

Normally, qualifying time trials are held to determine which driver and car starts in what position in a race. But for a championship event, drivers are placed on the speedway in accordance with where they stand in the point standings.

"We'll be back in style tomorrow," speculates Spalding. "I'll have my dirt track car back for the racing events."

The defending track champion here told the Press-Record that the car he had been driving for the past two weeks was one he normally drives on asphalt speedways. His regular late model Camaro has been repaired and ready to run.

Granite City's Red Bailey will be seeking to repeat his feat of last week—winning the sportsman division feature race—and possibly the point lead along with it.

Bailey trails that division's point leader, John Wolmeier, by slightly over 100 points.

Tomorrow's program will begin at 7:30 p.m. with time trials and continue at 8:30 p.m. with the first heat race.

Young Paddlers display skills

Ten members of the Granite City Paddlers' Swim Club earned top honors Monday in a "minnow" meet held at the Dorchester Club's pool in Belleville.

Club points are not recorded at minnow meets because only younger age classes compete. Winners by age groups were: Six-year-olds—Michelle Loftus, 25-yard freestyle, backstroke and breaststroke. Eric Schnellmann, 25-yard backstroke and Brendan Baggot, 25-yard breaststroke.

Seven-year-olds—Beth Hein, 25-yard back and breaststroke. James Lee, seeking his third consecutive feature race win, made the mistake of jumping off the line before the race started and never made up lost ground after being placed at the rear of the pack.

Other than Cleek, heat race winners were: Beall, McDonald, Ahn, Mike Geiss and Durborow. Robert E. Lee and Ken Hapke. Granite City's Glenn Falter captured the consolation event.

The weekly cycle racing program will resume next Tuesday with time trials at 7 p.m. and racing at 8 p.m.

Venice baseball

(All games begin at 6 p.m. and are played at Lee Park.) FRIDAY, July 19 St. Mark's Braves vs. Boushards Cubs MONDAY, July 22 Boushards Cubs vs. Schermers Bluebirds League teams wishing to enter are to mail a check or money order before July 27, payable to: Venice and Brooklyn Baseball Leagues, in care of John H. Williams, Apt. 107, Gareche Homes, Madison. A $10 entry fee for each team is to be required.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting George Wade, league co-director, at 877-5848.

Meet tonight on ice hockey

The Granite City Amateur Ice Hockey Association will conduct a regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. July 25, at the Nameeki Recreation Center, Franklin and Amos Avenues.

Jake Hassler, association president, is urging that interested persons and potential players attend.

vets Without High School Diploma Making It Through College at SIUE

Veterans without a high school education are proving they can make it all the way through college at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Through the programs offered by the SIUE Delinquency Study and Youth Development Center, a veteran of the Vietnam conflict has the opportunity to pass the General Education Development (GED) test, which provides a high school diploma and prepares the student for college entrance examinations.

Some of the veterans who have taken this route to college are now enrolled in the Delinquency Study and Youth Development Center's program in human services, which leads to a bachelor of arts degree.

It's conceivable that a motivated veteran with only a seventh grade education could obtain a college degree in less than five years by taking advantage of the programs offered by the Center," according to Jim Stein, SIUE faculty member and director of the Veterans Upward Bound program.

The Veterans Upward Bound program reports significant progress in the past year. Through this program, veterans receive nine months of benefits and are helped to meet the requirements of the GED test, college entrance, vocational school or a job.

Participants receive the same monthly payment that they would under the federal G.I. Education Bill, and the veteran's 36-month eligibility is not reduced if he decides to go on to college.

According to Stein, as many as 120 veterans have been enrolled at a given time in the program since it was started in January, 1973. The number of graduates has been averaging about seven per month since November.

Stein believes veterans will receive more adequate services at SIUE under a supervisory realignment which places the University's Office of Veterans Affairs (OVA) under the jurisdiction of the Delinquency Study and Youth Development Center (DSYDC). Robert Gilland, director of the DSYDC, said, "It's natural that the OVA should work closely with us because of our ongoing program in youth and human development, and we are familiar with veterans and their problems through our operation of the Veterans Upward Bound program."

Gilland continued, "We can do outreach programs together, and we can share services which will be of mutual benefit to the veteran and us. The OVA's tutorial service for college students is particularly helpful. And our diagnostic testing services should be of considerable benefit to the OVA. We're hoping for a 'marriage of programs' that will mean better coordination all the way around."

Tom Barnes, a Veterans Upward Bound instructor and program coordinator, explains that the diagnostic tests place the veterans in three categories: pre-GED (below eighth grade level); GED (eighth grade level and above, without high school diploma); and college prep (those who have passed the GED test within the nine-month program paid by the Veterans Administration).

But our goal is to at least give them something that will improve their vocational ability," Barnes said. The major thrust of the Veterans Upward Bound program is to qualify as many students as possible for a high school diploma, Barnes indicated. "The idea is educational enrichment, encouraging them to continue their education, whether vocationally or in college."

The SIUE Center recently received a grant of $73,000 from the U.S. Office of Education to continue Veterans Upward Bound another year.

"Comparing costs, we've found it's a lot cheaper to move a student through three or four years of high school in the nine-month period we have him than for him to try to get that much education any other way," Barnes commented. "And it's obvious that a person with a high school diploma has a much better chance to succeed and produce and be a benefit to society."

Stein reports that of the 10 Veterans Upward Bound programs currently in operation in the Midwest region, SIUE and the University of Cincinnati are tied for the highest number of graduates. According to available statistics, the program is operating at about one-fourth the cost per student of other programs which assist students in fulfilling the requirements for a high school diploma.

Long Lake area park hinges on County Board and costs

A $73,500 allocation from the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation for a new Madison County park north of Pontoon Beach does not mean the park will necessarily become a reality, Louis Whitsell, chairman of the county's Parks and Education Committee, said this week.

Whitsell said obtaining the grant may have been the easiest step in efforts to establish the park, as the county now must provide matching funds.

The 42.69-acre site sought for the park is owned by two men, including Appellate Judge George Moran. The proposal led to a dispute in the county government two years ago when several officials said they felt the county parks and education committee "was willing to pay too much for the property."

Whitsell said that was proved groundless after the lowest appraisal of the land showed it worth $147,000. The men once were willing to sell for that price, "but I doubt that price can be held now," Whitsell said. "Something like this is very difficult to have approved by the Madison County Board, because everyone wants something like this in his own district and no one wants to vote for it in someone else's district," Whitsell commented.

He said questions yet to be resolved include: Can the county finance its share of the money over several years? Will the land have increased in value so far that the county's share is much more than the amount of the grant, even if the land is purchased through condemnation proceedings? And can the county raise its half, even if the board wants the park?

He said the plan for the park has been approved by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission and by the East West Gateway Coordinating Council as fulfilling the need for a park in that area.

The area being sought, Whitsell explained, touches Route 111 on the east, Long Lake on the west, Georgetown Drive on the south and land owned by Arthur Enterprises on the north. The area used to be known as Hillbilly Park.

He said it provides waterfront property, a 10-acre wooded area in the center, and plenty of room for a ball diamond and recreation areas.

He described it as "a picnic-type park to serve the whole area."

"We have crossed a big hurdle in getting this grant, but it's probably going to be an even bigger hurdle to get the county to approve its share of the funds."

"I hope we can get this built before, someday, we have to tear down a lot of buildings to get a park," Whitsell concluded.

NEW BUILDING housing Riskovsky Automotive Engineering is now open at 13th and State Streets in Madison. James Riskovsky, owner and operator of the business, standing next to his "Razzel Dazzle" race car formerly had his garage at 1548 rear Fourth St. Riskovsky, who specializes in tune ups and electrical repair, said he uses the latest auto diagnostic equipment.

Concern over project delay

Members of the Granite City Rotary Club expressed concern at their Tuesday noon meeting in the YMCA when they learned from Rotarian Richard Kerch that scheduled intersection improvements at Nanesko Johnson and Fleming roads are not on the Illinois Department of Transportation "bids to let" list.

President Walter Milton urged each member of the club to write Gov. Dan Walker in an effort to have bids called on the improvements as funds for the project already been allocated.

The Rotarians expressed an interest in the location of a new convention center on the SIUE campus. Strong efforts by East St. Louis officials to have the center located there are under way, according to Milton.

Jack Markell, manager of the East St. Louis and Interurban Water Co. headquartered in East St. Louis, discussed wells and water tables in this area. Markell said that there is a bedrock formation in this area which acts as a "big bath tub, with no plug." The ground water just builds up as the river rises, he said.

He said this area normally has a high water table because the Mississippi river usually is high.

Rotarian Robert L. Jackson introduced the speaker. The club approved expenditure of $100 to send Mike Siebert, GCIS-South senior class president, to a debate institution Aug. 12-24 at Naperville, Ill.

Homer Huber will be the program chairman for next week.

Arrested on driving charge

Robert Randle, 18, of 197 South 30th St., Belleville, was arrested Tuesday night on a reckless driving charge filed by security officers at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Randle was apprehended by Collinsville and Illinois State Police at Collinsville after a description of Randle's automobile was broadcast by SIUE security officers on the police radio network.

Officers said Randle nearly collided with at least 10 vehicles while driving at high speeds on campus roads following the Mississippi River Festival concert.

An SIUE patrol attempted to stop the youth and broadcast a description and license number of the speeding car when Randle refused to stop.

The youth was taken to the Madison County jail in Edwardsville.

4 named to university boards

Gov. Dan Walker on Monday formally appointed four persons as members of governing boards in the state university system.

He appointed Mrs. Carol C. Lohman, Springfield, as a member of the Board of Higher Education; William R. Norwood, Elk Grove Village, as a member of the Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees; Guy V. Prisco, Aurora, as a member of the Board of Regents; and Dominick J. Bufalino, Norwood Park Township, as a member of the Board of Governors.

The Board of Regents is responsible for Northern Illinois U., Illinois State U. and Sangamon State U. The Board of Governors has jurisdiction over Governor's State U., Western Illinois U., Eastern Illinois, Chicago State and Northeastern Illinois University.

Mrs. Lohman, 50, has served for the past three years as a member of the Board of Governors and is also a trustee for Illinois College, a private college in Jacksonville.

Norwood, a first officer with United Airlines, also works as many as three days a week as a substitute teacher at Elk Grove High School, where he has developed a minority studies program for junior and senior students.

The 38-year-old pilot holds a master's degree in business administration from the University of Chicago Graduate School of Business and a bachelor of arts degree in chemistry from Southern Illinois University.

Norwood, the first black quarterback to play for the SIUC football team, was a first-stringer for three years and was named to the all-conference team in his senior year.

He is a member of the Aviation Committee of Elk Grove Village and was formerly a pilot with the U.S. Air Force.

Mrs. Lohman, a Republican, will serve until 1979, replacing Sen. Vivian Hickey (D-Rockford), who resigned to serve in the state Senate.

Norwood, an independent, will serve until 1977, replacing W. Victor Rouse, who resigned. Prisco, a Democrat, will serve until 1979, replacing Mrs. Mary Jane Masters, whose term expired, and Bufalino, an independent, will serve until 1977, replacing Mrs. Lohman.

Members of all of the boards serve without salary. They are subject to Illinois Senate confirmation.

Trailer overturns

John Aldis, 44, of South Elgin, was injured when his tractor-trailer overturned on the Route 203 exit ramp from the eastbound lanes of Interstate 270 at 2 p.m. Monday.

Aldis said as he was leaving the highway, the load in his truck shifted and the trailer started to tip. Aldis said he turned toward the ditch to attempt to return the load to the center of the trailer, but lost control and the truck overturned.

He was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was treated for abrasions to the left side of his chest, a small cut to his upper lip and an abrasion to his left shoulder. X-rays were taken and he was released.

Owens infant dies Monday

Stelecie Owens, infant daughter of Mrs. Estella Owens, 404 Short St., Venice was buried Wednesday following graveside services at Sunset Gardens, Stookey Township.

The infant died 10 minutes after being born Monday at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

GC garbage contract accepted

A three-year contract for the Milam East Corp. to continue garbage and trash collection and disposal in Granite City was approved Monday night by the Granite City Council.

The contract was awarded on the basis of low bid specifications by the Milam East Division of SCA Services, Inc. It is retroactive to July 1.

Milam East must collect and dispose of all garbage, refuse, tin cans and rubbish and all properly packaged leaves and small tree trimmings which can easily be handled by one man, from residents of Granite City. Businesses are allowed two 30-gallon containers full, but Milam officials said more will be accepted.

In addition, the contract provides that the Milam firm will provide collection service at no additional charge to St. Elizabeth Hospital, all public schools and to housing provided by the Granite City Housing Authority.

The additional service was questioned Monday night by aldermen who asked what the cost of collections is at the hospital, schools and public housing. Aldermen indicated they did not feel the city should, in the future, pay the cost of trash collection for other public taxing bodies or a private hospital.

The aldermen agreed to approve the contract, as read, but to determine if the cost of future contracts could be reduced by eliminating the hospital, schools and public housing from the agreement.

The new contract was approved on a basis bid price of $348,000 per year, an increase of $84,000 over the $264,000 paid by the city for garbage and trash collection during the fiscal year ending May 1.

Other provisions of the contract call for Milam to provide a site for a sanitary landfill which will be available free of charge to Granite City residents from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and Saturdays.

The landfill also must accept all rubbish, grit and sludge deposited from the city's sewage treatment plant and all rubbish and trees deposited by the city's street department.

Union labor must be used and local people are to be hired for the work, it is stipulated.

SIUE appointment cards available

Appointment cards for registration for the Fall Quarter at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will be available Monday, according to C. B. Collier, assistant registrar.

Students may pick up their appointment cards on weekdays from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. at the Enrollment Office, Room 308 of the General Office Building. Cards also may be picked up on Monday, Wednesday, or Thursday nights from 5 until 7 at the Admissions and Records Office, Room 1208.

All wards in Granite City will get new sidewalks this fiscal year, assuming the city can come up with the money. The final request came from Whittier's ward's junior alderman, Frank Greenwald, who commented, "I've fought this sidewalk thing all along."

He continued, "Now that everyone's asking for his share, I just can't sit here and see everything go to everyone but the people of Ward Two."

4-H junior leaders to meet

Four Madison County youth will, as the theme suggests, "reach out" during the 35th annual Illinois 4-H Junior Leaders' Conference Sunday through July 26.

Laura Gruber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gruber of Edwardsville; Rich Givlio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Givlio of East Alton; Lynn Nungesser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Nungesser of Highland; and Kathleen Wiggins, daughter of Mrs. Eloise Wiggins of Madison, will put their leadership and communications skills to work during the conference by working with three special groups of people.

Following an opening address by Dr. Hope Davidson, program leader for the Madison County Service Unit, Washington D.C., the teens will spend one day each working with a group of urban youth from Springfield; a group of mentally handicapped young people from Lincoln State School; and a group of junior citizens from 16 central Illinois counties. In sharing a day with these special guests, the delegates will learn to identify with the feelings and ideas of other people and to reach out.

To assist the teens in their communications skills with special groups, Dr. K. Mearl B. Karnes, professor of special education, University of Illinois, will teach methods and techniques of working with mentally and physically handicapped adults and youth. In addition, a panel from the East Central Illinois Agency on Aging will assist the request for $10,000 in sidewalk appropriations for his ward.

The final request came from Whittier's ward's junior alderman, Frank Greenwald, who commented, "I've fought this sidewalk thing all along."

He continued, "Now that everyone's asking for his share, I just can't sit here and see everything go to everyone but the people of Ward Two."

Greenwald then asked for a $10,000 sidewalk appropriation for his ward.

All sidewalk requests passed with minor opposition on a voice vote.

The combined actions of the two meetings give all wards $10,000 for sidewalks with the exception of Ward Six at $15,000 and Ward Three at $20,000.

Also taken to the Madison County jail Tuesday night by SIUE security officers was Robert T. Copanas, 28, of Baldwin, who was charged with criminal trespass to land. Copanas was arrested after he climbed over the fence at the Mississippi River Festival and refused to pay admission or leave the site.

FLORIDA EXPLORED
Explorer Juan Ponce de Leon of Spain sailed to the western shore of Florida on May 23, 1513.

Paul B. Akin, president of Laclede Steel, reported Tuesday that, as he had predicted at the last annual stockholders' meeting, 1974 first-half earnings were $6,362,000 and net earnings of $6,133,000 and net earnings of $1,962,000 or $4.76 a share for the comparable period last year.

Akin indicated that this year's first half net earnings of $6,362,000 are larger than Laclede Steel's ever earned in any two-quarter period or in any past year.

For the first six months, sales were $93,177,000 and net earnings were $6,362,000 or $16.88 a share compared to sales of $87,133,000 and net earnings of $1,962,000 or $4.76 a share for the comparable period last year.

Legislative session failed to help image of most officials

By KEN WATSON

Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

A game without winners.

That's the Statehouse political consensus of the newly concluded session of the Illinois legislature.

No major politician emerged from the long drawn-out battle with his career enhanced, or his prospects for future electoral triumphs brightened.

Beneath the Statehouse Dome

there is a feeling that

Democratic Gov. Dan Walker suffered some erosion of his high personal popularity with Illinois voters.

Walker was strongly and persistently criticized for a lack of traditional leadership and for timidity in presenting major administration programs, considered a factor in prolonging the January-June session to July 13.

However, Gov. Walker can take some solace in the fact that the biggest threat to his re-election in 1976, Republican

Atty. Gen. William J. Scott, did not fare well politically either.

Although Scott did achieve passage-over Walker's opposition—of some legislation extending the power of the attorney general in state government, Scott's involvement in the deadlock preceding the session's windup probably cost him some stature with Illinois voters and taxpayers.

Statehouse professional politicians believe Scott may have been wiser to have stayed clear of the legislative battle.

In a somewhat similar situation was Democratic Lt.

Gov. Neil Hartigan, who found himself once again publicized as "feuding" with Walker.

The public currently is cynical about the legislature and politicians in general, and Hartigan's association with the legislative fracas was hardly a plus for him.

However, unlike Scott,

Hartigan probably couldn't have avoided major involvement, especially if he was to obtain a long-sought serious role in the state's energy development effort.

Among legislative leaders themselves, the session proved ballot this fall.

He not only managed to avoid involvement in any of the legislative controversies, but also kept on good terms with the many diverse factions of his own party.

How about individual legislators, especially the House members, all of whom are being re-elect-

fall?

All undoubtedly lost ground.

Even those who opposed pay raise legislation will probably suffer from what is regarded as general voter resentment against the legislators.

Council ok's traffic light

A proposal to erect traffic lights at Nameoki Road and Manley Avenue, at the entrance to the Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center, was approved Monday night by the Granite City Council.

The $16,000 plan calls for use of traffic light equipment at Madison Avenue intersections which now is being replaced under an improvement program.

The lights will be erected at the shopping center entrance, with the city and Don Golden of Kansas City, Mo., developer of the shopping center, dividing the cost. Each will pay $8,000.

The plan passed the council on a 10-2 vote with Alderman Earl Baker of the Sixth Ward and Alderman Walter Norn of the Fifth Ward voting against it.

The council agreed to have two parking meters removed from the west side of 20th Street, next to First Granite City National Bank, to allow more room for autos awaiting left turns.

FALTERS HONORED
The Rev. and Mrs. Gus Falter of the Pontoon Baptist Church were the honored guests at an open house reception Sunday afternoon given by members of the church.

Those attending were their children, Becky, Glenn and Gregg, her mother, Mrs. Leta Kollenburn, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Falter Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Richard Johnson and daughters, Dana and Lynn, of Kansas City, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Earl Groves and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Crabbs of Asberry, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Luther Barnes and son, Steven, of Springfield, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Don Shaffner, Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Carver and daughters, Amy and Rhonda, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sturdivant and daughter, JoAnn, Miss Carla Hileman.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Herwich, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Smith and children, Jack, Jim, Tricia, Terry and Jimmy, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Pittman of Mayfield, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith, Richard Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Gordon, Mrs. Jim White and children, Maria, Lori and Shelby, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Durbin.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Durbin and daughters, Cindy, Debie, Angela and Anita, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Harvey and daughters, Debbie and Barbara, Miss Tammy Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Carpenter, Misses Susan and Laura Lee Flowers, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stayduhar and son, Paul, Miss Lesa Randall, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Holloway, Mrs. Ron Stratan and family of Florissant, Mo., Harold McBride and Danny McBride. They received many gifts, including a money tree from the congregation.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Snider of Breckenridge Lane entertained with a barbecue during the weekend in honor of her mother, Mrs. Betty Snider.

Guests were her husband, Kenneth, and Les Snider, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Strumski, Miss Janice Snider, Scott Strumski, Denise Snider and the hosts' twins, Kevin and Sheri.

Mrs. Snider received many gifts, and a large birthday cake centered the table.

The Rev. and Mrs. Lowry Sutherland and children, Scott, Jill and Jeff, are leaving this week to make their home in Huntington, Ind., where he will be pastor of the Central Christian Church. He has been pastor of the Pontoon Church for the past seven years.

A proposal for a traffic signal at 18th Street and Madison Avenue also was presented for consideration by the council. It was disclosed that the Granite City Public Library has purchased property at the eastern end of Villa Drive and the city's street and alley committee was asked to seek a right-of-way through the property.

The city already owns the right-of-way for property east of the library property and with an easement from the library board could connect Villa with Westchester Drive.

The council received a preliminary report from Alderman Earl Baker of the Sixth Ward, chairman of the fire and water committee, on the Opticom system, with which emergency vehicles could turn traffic lights in front of them to green by remote control.

Baker said the system would cost less than $30,000 to convert 15 intersections and place remote control devices in 10 fire trucks and police cars. It could be financed over a four-year period, it was indicated.

Purchasing the Opticom system may be available under a Federal Aid to Urban Systems grant and the fire and water committee was asked to study possible grants and obtain additional information before bringing a specific recommendation on the system before the council.

Permission was granted to S. M. Wilson Co. to close one lane of traffic at 2100 and 2114 E. 20th St., for several hours at a time between now and July 31 to demolish the two structures.

The council entered into an agreement with the Sisters of Divine Providence, who operate St. Elizabeth Hospital, by which the city vacated an alley between Madison Avenue and Iowa Street near 21st Street to allow the hospital to construct an additional public parking lot behind the Tri-Cor Pharmacy building. The alley is to be turned to Iowa Street when the lot is constructed.

A request by Dr. Stanley F. Maer, optometrist, for a special use permit at 1501 Garfield Ave., at Nameoki Road, for a professional office, was granted. Issuance of the permit in the R-2 residential area was recommended by the Granite City Planning Commission.

Venice schools get $500,000

A $500,000 distribution of 1973 taxes was received this week by the Venice School District which applied for an early allocation of tax money due to serious financial problems within the school system. School board members were informed at Monday night's meeting by Attorney Lawrence T. Hartman that the half-million dollar revenue is the earliest tax money payment received by the district in recent years. From the $500,000 total, the sum of $264,400 was paid to the district's education fund. Of this figure, $270,000 immediately was expended to pay off tax anticipation warrants secured by the district earlier this year to finance operation of Venice schools during the 1973-74 school year. Venice Supt. of Schools

Robert N. Vickers said that based on 95 per cent collection of taxes, the Venice district will receive an estimated $686,000 for educational purposes for the entire 1974-75 school year. "This means we already have received more than 50 per cent of our total tax money," Vickers said. He noted that repayment of the anticipation warrants reduced the total tax revenue in the education fund by almost half. Remainder of the $500,000 was allocated to the building fund—$66,650; bonds and interest—$22,100; transportation—$11,150; IMRF (retirement)—$11,900; working cash—$4,850; fire and safety—$8,900; special education (building)—$7,100; and junior college fund—$1,900. Earlier tax funds became available this year because of local tax collections made by the town collectors of Venice, Nameoki, Granite City, and Chouteau townships. Because collections were made locally, the town collectors were permitted to make distributions to taxing bodies within the townships as the money became available. In the previous two years, collections were made by the county treasurer who waited until fall before distributing funds to the taxing bodies. The tax books now have been returned by the local collectors to the county treasurer and further tax distributions will be made by that office. The Venice board authorized the transfer of $120,000 from the education fund to working cash. The amount included $94,400 from the new tax revenue and $25,600 which remained in the fund on July 1; and also transferred $2,000 from the same fund to the revolving fund. In other business, the school board formally dissolved the National Honor Society account, transferring a $50 balance in the fund to the Red Devils Booster Club. The honor society no longer is functioning at Venice High School, Vickers explained, noting the booster group was recommended as the recipient by High School Principal Lewis E. Sabin. Textbooks and supplies costing $9,817 were approved for purchase and payment of $125 for 1974-75 dues in the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools was also approved. Authorization to attend junior colleges was granted to Charles Smith, 1232 Oriole St., Ben McCoy, 531 Slough Road, and Woodrow Forston, 525 Garner St. Board members ratified a working agreement with Local 98 of the Building Services Employees Union. The contract, covering a two-year period, was verbally approved by the board and union negotiating teams last month.

Also approved was discontinuing the school district's policy of retaining a school physician on a nine-month basis at a monthly retainer fee. A physician will be retained to provide physical examinations when needed and for emergency services, Vickers said. Dr. J. C. Byers, who has held the staff post for several years, will be given the opportunity to continue under the new policy, the administrator added.

W. DALE PARRISH, credit manager at Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, who has been elected assistant cashier by the bank's board of directors. Parrish, an employee of the bank since 1972, is a graduate of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. He resides at 2836 Edgewood Ave. with his wife and two children.

Training project expands parking

Parking space at the outdoor performing arts center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will be increased by more than 35 percent after completion of a heavy equipment apprentice training program initiated by Local Union 520 of the International Union of Operating Engineers.

Lee Hildebrand, a civil engineer with the SIUE Physical Plant, said the eight-acre site, which is being developed southeast of the main entrance to the performing arts center, will provide parking space for at least 1,500 cars. Existing lots have space for approximately 2,500 cars.

Dave Downs, training officer for Local Union 520 and assistant director of the project at SIUE, said 14 apprentices are receiving training in the operation of all types of heavy equipment at the site. The project is the major one in several area training programs funded through a $151,212 contract between the International Union of Operating Engineers and the U.S. Department of Labor and the U.S. Department of Housing, Education and Welfare.

Authorized by the Manpower Development and Training Act, the project is being developed through a sub-contract with the Southern Illinois Builders Association, Southern Illinois Contractors Association, and Local 520.

The equipment being used is on loan from the Department of Defense and the General Services Administration.

Downs said approximately 52,000 cubic yards of dirt will be moved as hilly areas are flattened and proper drainage is provided at the SIUE site. The job is being done without cost to the University.

According to Charles N. Moorleghen, assistant vice-president for plant operations at SIUE, the University will sod the field after the earth moving has been completed by the operating engineers. He said he expects the area can be ready for parking next season.

Moorleghen said the additional parking will be welcomed at the center, where concert audiences have numbered more than 20,000.

Operator charged

Earl Ingram, 46, of 2400 Edison Ave., was charged with dispensing liquor without a license after they found customers being served drinks at The Den, 2401 State St., at 7 p.m. Tuesday. Ingram, operator of the business, was arrested a short time later at his home and police allege he used a post-dated check to purchase the license and the license was not yet valid. He was released after posting $50 bond.

OVER 52,000 CUBIC YARDS OF DIRT will be moved in the construction of an eight-acre parking lot at the outdoor performing arts center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The project is being done without cost to the University through an apprentice training program initiated by Local Union 520 of the International Union of Operating Engineers.

PARKING SPACE FOR 1,500 CARS will be provided on a site being cleared in a heavy equipment training project near the outdoor performing arts center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Inspecting the work are Dave Downs (left), assistant director of the project for Local Union 520 of the International Union of Operating Engineers, and Ralph Sims of Collinsville, representing the Southern Illinois Builders Association. Also collaborating in the training of 14 apprentice operating engineers is the Southern Illinois Contractors Association.

Energy development hearings scheduled

Cong. Melvin Price has announced that the Federal Energy Administration will conduct public hearings in Chicago on Sept. 9-13 on the role of nuclear power and advanced energy systems in U.S. energy development.

The hearings are part of a series to be held across the U.S. during August, September and October.

FEA Administrator John C. Savhill has told Rep. Price that "the data, analyses, and suggestions presented at these hearings will be used in evaluating our policy options." Price is encouraging all interested parties to participate in the hearings. He is chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy.

In the House of Representatives, Rep. Price congratulated Belleville's Jimmy Connors on his Wimbledon tennis championship.

"The congressman said he is 'particularly pleased' with the victory because Connors was born and raised in his congressional district."

"I have known Jim's family for many years," said Rep. Price, "and I have watched with interest and pleasure as he rose in the tennis world."

"Jim is certain to reappear in the Wimbledon finals many more times," Rep. Price predicted. "But this first championship marks his ascendance to the ranks of the tennis great."

Calling it "one more step along the path to America's energy independence," Rep. Price spoke in favor of the Geothermal Energy Research, Development and Demonstration Act, a bill up for consideration by the House.

Geothermal energy is that produced from hot or pressurized water below the ground. The intent of the bill is to bring presently unused geothermal energy resources to commercial demonstration.

"As our oil resources are depleted, said Rep. Price, "we must turn to other forms of energy production. Coal is the most obvious choice of underdeveloped wealth, and I am proud that my state of Illinois has vast deposits of this energy to be used in the future."

However, in addition to continuing coal research, we must also work with any other possible energy source."

The local congressman pointed out that geothermal energy has been used effectively in other countries, and he urged similar development in the United States.

Many geothermal sources here are combined with natural gas deposits, a circumstance Rep. Price sees as "a double incentive to developers of these deposits and a boon to the energy-hungry nation as a whole."

The bill authorizes $2.5 million during the 1974-75 fiscal year for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to conduct the program definition of a national geothermal effort.

Rep. Price has advised that reservations for approximately 9,500 campsites in 21 areas of the National Park System are available through the Park Reservation System operating under the National Park Service.

The congressman is encouraging use of the reservation system, especially for those traveling great distances, to insure that they have a place to camp.

Reservations may be made in one of three ways:

(1) If the reserved period requested begins from 10 days to 90 days from the date of request, the request should be mailed to Park Reservation Systems, Inc., P.O. Box 1976, Cedar Rapids, Iowa 52408.

Payment by check or money order must accompany the reservation unless an approved credit card number is used.

(2) If the reservation begins from two days to 10 days in advance, the Park Reservation System is available by telephone from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. CDT daily at (800) 553-8425 and (319) 363-0221.

(3) An in-person reservation may be made at the park by contacting a Park Ranger.

Snake, 40 young living in barrel

Youngsters living in the vicinity of Kaseberg Lane, Pontoon Beach, had the chance to watch the arrival of more than 40 baby snakes this week. The female snake was found by Bobby Littlejohn, 12 years old, who took the 3 1/2-foot-long reptile home and placed it in a bucket.

Presumably a common variety garter snake, according to adult neighbors, the mother and offspring are now housed in a large barrel.

Bobby, an 8th grade pupil at Grigsby Junior High School, found the snake on the road near his home, at 65 Kaseberg Park. The reptile is brown with a white stripe along the back, the boy said.

City says—return signs and no questions asked

Granite City would like to have some of its missing stop signs, traffic control signs and street name signs returned.

The Granite City Council agreed Monday night to urge parents to return stolen signs they may have seen in children's rooms or elsewhere to the city street department.

2201 Adams St., in the near future.

The aldermen pledged that parents returning the signs will not be arrested, no penalties will be assessed and the names of those returning the signs will not be listed.

Discussion on the sign issue was started by Alderman Emerald Dawes of the Seventh Ward who said the number of street signs and stop signs disappearing each day is alarming.

He told Sixth Ward Alderman

Gerald Farmley, "I thought we in the Seventh Ward were in bad shape on street name signs, but Jerry, we're nothing like your ward."

"It was in the Sixth Ward the other day and I could not find any street name signs. They all have been stolen."

Dawes asked the city attorney to prepare an ordinance containing a severe fine for anyone stealing or being found in possession of a stolen city sign.

City Attorney George Filcoff responded, "We already have an ordinance against stealing the signs; the only problem is you have to catch those taking them."

The proposal to ask parents to return the signs without penalty was made by Alderman Ronald Coleman of the Seventh Ward and other aldermen agreed with the idea. Coleman urged that the signs be returned "as soon as possible."

Convention center proposal highlights development news

Development news in Madison, St. Clair and Monroe Counties reviewed by the Illinois Metro East Industrial Development Corporation.

A bill providing for issuance of revenue bonds to build a 10,000-seat convention center has been approved by the state legislature and sent to the governor.

The center is expected to cost about $15 million. Bonds would be retired from user charges. Both SIUE and the City of East St. Louis have suggested that they could donate land as a location for the center.

Approval of a site for the permanent campus of State Community College in East St. Louis has been received from the Illinois Community College Board. The board endorsed a location near Franklin Park. The new campus is expected to cost $4 million and to be developed over a three-year period. The city will acquire land for the campus.

Interest in revitalizing existing Central Business Districts continues to be strong. A downtown development group in Collinsville has negotiated a contract with SIUE marketing faculty members to study that city's business district. In Wood River, the mayor has appointed a steering committee to pursue possibilities of developing a revitalization program for the Wood River downtown area. Other proposals are in various stages of consideration in Belleville, Granite City and Edwardsville.

Plans for major new residential developments have been announced in both Glen Carbon and Troy. Mariner Financial, Inc., and Lakewood Developers, Inc., in a joint venture arrangement, plan to develop a luxury residential area on a 175-acre tract along Illinois 157 south of the entrance to SIUE. It will be known as Ginger Creek. In Troy, work has begun on a 100-acre planned unit development called High Meadows. It will include single family homes, duplexes, apartments and modular homes.

First Bank promotes Camren

Paul H. Lichtenberger, chairman of First Granite City National Bank, today announced the promotion of Herbert S. Camren from assistant vice president to vice president of the bank.

In his new function, Camren will head the Real Estate Loan Department.

Camren joined the bank staff in January 1969 as a teller trainee, advancing through the various departments of the bank. He was made an assistant vice president in 1972.

Prior to his employment here, he was a member of the Armed Forces for two years, serving with the Army in Korea. After discharge, he attended Southeast Missouri State College and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

"All of us at the bank are happy to have a man of Herb's caliber available to fill the vacancy created by the untimely death of Walter G. Gavlick," Lichtenberger continued.

"We are confident that under his direction, the bank will continue its present policy of assisting and promoting home ownership in this area."

Reports of biting dog aired at city meeting

Complaints concerning a large dog, kept next to Washington School and believed to have leaped over a fence and bitten several children in the school yard, were heard by the Granite City Council Monday night.

Mrs. Helen Clark, 27, of 2292 W. 20th St., told the council of several complaints she has made concerning the dog. She said she and her family were involved in a disagreement with the city's humane officer, Tom Wofford.

She said she spent more than $100 in bonds getting her family out of jail from the incident over by the dog.

She and Modest Clark, 30, and Jason Clark, 18, all of 2292 W. 20th, were arrested Friday after Wofford said two men were causing him difficulties in completing his duties. One man punched him, he alleged.

Police responded to a radio request for help from Wofford and charged Jason Clark with assault, Modest Clark with battery and Mrs. Clark with disorderly conduct.

Another woman was heard by the council. She complained that the humane officer was spending all of his time in the West Granite City area.

Mayor Paul Schuler promised the women that the city administration would look into the matter and determine what can be done to keep the dog from harming any more children.

The Clark family reports that 12-year-old Diana Jean Clark suffered dog bites about the face requiring 16 sutures.

A neighbor girl, also 12, was bitten and needed eight stitches to close the wound, and two other children have been bitten by the same dog in the last five months, the family said.

Services for O'Dell child

Funeral services were held at 11 a.m. Wednesday at a Granite City funeral home for Bobby Gene O'Dell, who died Monday.

He was the six-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edson (Loretta) O'Dell, 4701 Kirkpatrick Homes.

Burial took place at Sunset Hill Cemetery.

The infant was pronounced dead after being taken from the home to St. Elizabeth Hospital, and tests are being made to establish the cause of death.

Burns heads off-campus programs

Paul Burns, a member of the admissions staff at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville since 1969, has been named the new Office of Off-Campus Programs.

The appointment was announced Wednesday by Dr. John S. Randleman, president of SIUE, on the recommendation of a search committee chaired by David G. Rands, professor of chemistry at SIUE.

The selection was made from a field of 32 candidates who applied for the position created by the SIUE Board of Trustees in April.

Burns' appointment will become effective Aug. 1, subject to approval by the Board of Trustees. He will report to the vice-president for academic affairs and provost, Dr. Andrew J. Lochman.

Burns' responsibilities will include administrative services relating to off-campus cost-recovery degree programs, operation of resident centers, university extension and other off-campus instructional activities.

The director will coordinate his activities with the Office of Admissions and Records and the academic departments of SIUE.

Dr. Kochman said one of the main functions of the new office will be "to assist SIUE schools and departments to develop and maintain liaison with community agencies and organizations in order to identify educational needs which the university can and should meet at off-campus locations."

He added that in the future, the coordinator of Conferences and Institutes at SIUE will report to the director of off-campus programs. Previously, the conferences and institutes office was a function of University News Service.

Burns came to SIUE in 1969 as an admissions counselor in the Office of Admissions and Records after retiring from the Army as a lieutenant colonel.

He worked as community college coordinator three years and was promoted to coordinator of school college relations in January 1973.

Burns has a bachelor's degree in business administration from the University of Omaha and a master's degree in personnel administration from George Washington University. He is nearing completion of his doctorate in higher education administration at SIU at Carbondale.

Burns and his wife and two children live in Edwardsville.

Cancel August board meeting

The Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees has canceled its regular August meeting. The session would have been held on the local campus.

Ivan A. Elliott Jr., chairman of the board, said a light schedule of pending agenda items made it practical to cancel the meeting.

Elliott said the sequence of alternating board meetings between the two campuses will be continued for the remainder of the year.

The September meeting is scheduled in Carbondale, where the July meeting also took place, and the October meeting will be at SIU at Edwardsville.

TWO INJURED

Edward Baugh, 21, and Mrs. Carol Baugh, 23, both of 2122 Adams St., were treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital Monday after being injured in an auto accident. Baugh suffered only minor injuries and Mrs. Baugh hurt her right arm and her neck. Both were released after X-rays were taken.

Sturdy doors as important as good locks

Many people who buy the best locks for protection against intruders, fail to provide sturdy doors on which to mount the locks.

All exterior doors have a solid core. Thin-paneled and hollow-core doors should be lined with metal sheets if possible.

It is further recommended that you either eliminate doors with glass panels or that you replace the panels with laminated security glass. This precaution also applies to the glass panels located on the sides of doors.

The door should be secured to the door frame with 3-inch screws in the hinges. Be sure the hinges on the exterior door have non-removable hinge pins.

A door should snugly fit an equally strong door frame to prevent an intruder from pushing, moving or jiggling the door loose. Use metal strips to eliminate any cracks between the door and the door frame.

If possible, have the exterior doors open outward. Doors opening inward can be kicked and pushed open while doors opening outward cannot be pushed past the door jam.

A mail slot in the door should be located far enough away from the door knob to prevent anybody from reaching the lock with his hand or an instrument.

Peepholes should be as small as possible to prevent anybody from forcing a screwdriver into the frame and pushing it back so that the door knob or lock can be reached.

Patio, French and Dutch doors are difficult to safeguard against burglars. It is recommended that patio doors be made of laminated security glass. In addition a crossbar locking device installed across the center can be placed on the door trap parallel to the floor.

The bar screws onto the door and is secured by a key-locked chain and latch on the frame. A strong wooden or metal bar between the door edge and the vertical frame will keep the door from being opened easily.

On French doors, use steel padlocks at the top and bottom of the door.

Dutch doors cannot be secured from burglars with any type of lock.

Although storm doors offer little protection, it is recommended they be made of laminated security glass and secured with dead-bolt cylinder lock. Such a lock cannot be reached from the outside or kicked in or pried. The dead-bolt cylinder lock also is a good security device for any type of glass-paneled or jalousie door.

Venice park budget action is due Monday

The Venice Park Board will meet in special session at 7 p.m. Monday to adopt a 1974-75 operating budget. It was announced following a public hearing on the appropriation bill.

While no citizens attended the public hearing in the Lee Park Recreation Hall, board members discussed several minor changes to be made in budget items for the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund, and for the Liability Insurance Fund. These figures are to be computed by Harry Hartman, board attorney, for presentation at Monday's meeting.

Hartman said the new figures are expected to change the budget total by "only $200 to $300." The new budget as tentatively drawn projects expenditures of $90,890 during the current fiscal year. That figure is up $11,107 over last year's appropriation.

The budget now projects Municipal Retirement Fund expenditures at $7,000, up from $6,500 last year, and Liability Insurance Fund expenditures at $1,750, up from $1,400 last year.

Racer hurt

Edward Daley, 18, of Tulsa, Okla., was treated for a small abrasion to his left eyebrow and released from St. Elizabeth Hospital after chest and spinal x-rays were taken at 9:12 p.m. Tuesday.

Daley was taken to the hospital here by the Wood River Township ambulance service when he reported neck pain following a motorcycle accident which occurred in the fifth heat race of a racing program at Tri-City Speedway.

Smith sales climb as auto products volume improves

A. O. Smith Corp. on Tuesday reported sales of $151,028,000 and profits of $4,895,000, or $1 per share, for the second quarter of 1974.

L. B. Smith, chairman and chief executive officer, said at Milwaukee that while second quarter results are significantly improved over the depressed first quarter of the year, they were still behind the records set in 1973.

Smith pointed out that both the second quarter and first six months of 1973 were the best sales and earnings periods in the company's history.

In the second quarter last year, A. O. Smith had sales of $146,356,000 and profits of $4,665,000 or $1.31 per share. The firm's plants include Granite City's auto frame manufacturing facility.

The company reported sales of $134,688,000 and earnings of $600,000, or 12 cents per share, in the first quarter of 1974 when the energy crisis curtailed automobile buying and thereby caused A. O. Smith's Automotive Division to operate at a loss.

For the first six months of the current year, A. O. Smith had sales of $268,323,000 and profits of $5,495,000, or $1.12 per share, compared with $322,767,000 in sales and earnings of $10,998,000, or $2.25 per share, last year.

Increased sale of passenger car frames in the Automotive Division is the principal factor accounting for the improved second quarter compared with the first, Smith said.

Divers recover body; find boat

The Bubblemasters Underwater Recovery Team (BURT) assisted Edwardsville police during the weekend in the recovery of a drowning victim at a shale pit near the Edwardsville city limits.

Vance Weiss, club president, and Don Digraham, BURT captain, recovered the body of a man about 18 years old, in water estimated as 18 feet deep.

Initial recovery of a $40,000 drag racing boat, which sank July 9 in St. Louis International Drag Boat Races near the Mississippi River near the I-270 bridge, also was credited to BURT divers, it was learned.

A team of professional divers, failed to locate the 1,000-pound craft and the local team was asked to provide assistance, it was reported.

The divers found the boat on July 9, tagged the craft and attached three nylon lines, a 50-foot chain and marker line.

Their successful effort proved futile, however, when the barge on which a salvage crew was

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Thurs., July 18, 1974 Page 24

He also pointed out that volume in the division is down 23 per cent from a year ago for the first six months and that volume in the second quarter was off 15 per cent from last year.

The Automotive Division operated at a profit in the second quarter, Smith said, compared with a loss in the first, with increased production and cost reduction programs accounting for the turnaround.

In comparing 1974 with 1973, Smith said the company's sales and profit decline were mainly caused by the Automotive Division, although material shortages and rapidly rising material costs adversely affected all operating units.

Smith said sales of non-automotive product lines in the first six months were slightly ahead of 1973, while profits were off somewhat.

Significant profit declines were reported in the electric motor and water heater divisions, primarily because of increased material costs, with the Armor Elevator subsidiary showing good improvement from a year ago when in dustrywide strikes caused substantial losses.

Operations which showed the largest percentage sales increase in the first half compared with last year were petroleum measuring equipment, elevators and Harvatore, livestock feeding systems, trying to raise the speed boat also sank, breaking off the marker lines.

On Sunday, Ron Kibort of the East Side Diving Club relocated the craft and salvage efforts were continuing this week to surface the valuable racing boat.

Dr. Wiley, Mrs. Monroe helping chart course for new State Education Board

W. Deane Wiley, dean of the School of Education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville—infirm executive director of the new State Board of Education while on sabbatical leave until Jan. 1—reported to Springfield this week to assume the responsibilities of his new office.

During Wiley's absence, S. Joseph Gore, assistant dean of the School of Education, will be in charge during the summer quarter, and Stefan P. Krobniak, associate dean, will be acting dean during the fall quarter, when Gore will be on sabbatical leave.

James M. Comer, associate professor of elementary education, also will be assisting with the administration of the school of Education during the all quarter.

One of the prime tasks of the new State Board is to select a state superintendent of schools who will replace the elected superintendent of public instruction Jan. 1.

Dr. Wiley's responsibilities will include guiding the new board in setting up its operations and carrying out its functions.

He was named interim executive director at a meeting of the new board Thursday. Jack Witkowski of Chicago was elected the board's first chairman.

Others elected were Charles

DR. W. D. WILEY

M. Long of Waggoner, vice-chairman, and Mrs. Gertrude Monroe of Collinsville, secretary.

Dr. Wiley expressed "excitement" about his new role in state education.

He said, "The Board is responsible for over two million youngsters in Illinois. I will have the almost unprecedented opportunity to aid the Board in its most formative stages, and to be of service to members in their search for and selection of a new state school superintendent.

"This total experience ought to be of great benefit to the School of Education upon my return, both in what I believe I can do in the area of teacher education, and in the people with whom I will be working and talking to about Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville."

He plans to keep in touch with the SIUE School of Education on a "day to day" basis.

"Under no circumstances, is it my intention to simply disappear for six months and abrogate the responsibility of the deanship completely," he noted. "I intend to be very much in touch with what is going on in the school, and I will participate in most, if not all, decisions affecting the welfare of the School of Education."

Dr. Wiley was appointed dean of the SIUE School of Education in 1968. He formerly was deputy head of the division of educational administration and supervision of New York University.

He has a doctorate in educational administration and supervision from Claremont Graduate School, Claremont, Calif.

GM auto parts, tools given to North High

General Motors Corp. has presented some of the latest automotive components to Granite City High School North, it was announced today.

The equipment includes: an automatic transmission; 20 carburetors; a rear axle assembly; a V8, 350 CID engine; two generators with integrated regulators; and other parts and tools.

The gift was presented to the school by A. H. Werner, St. Louis GM Training Center manager, Gilbert V. Walsley, principal, accepted on behalf of the school.

"The gift reflects General Motors' continuing interest in education and is one of many such contributions which have been made to schools to help train students in the field of auto mechanics," a spokesman said.

In making the presentation,

Warner said, "Such contributions have been found to be of real value to educators in their shops, classrooms and laboratories in training qualified personnel to meet the needs of a growing automotive industry."

In 1973, GM made donations of automotive and appliance components and other equipment to 1,049 junior and senior high schools, technical institutions and colleges, the items being valued at more than $1.3 million.

In addition to these parts and tools, GM granted allowances totaling $15.5 million to GM dealers for 40,969 new cars and light duty trucks loaned to high school driver education programs during the 1972-73 school year. This amounted to 63.7 per cent of all vehicles loaned to high schools for driver training.

Recommend 3 zoning changes

Two requests for special use permits to place mobile homes in Quad-City townships have received the recommendation of the Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals and will be considered at a regular Madison County Board meeting at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, July 24.

4-H group to sell dairy products

At a meeting of the Madison County 4-H Leaders' Forum, it was decided that this year during the Madison County Fair, starting Sunday, the leaders will operate a trailer furnished by the Illinois Division of the American Dairy Association and sell milks and various dairy items.

Funds raised from this project are to be used to aid deserving 4-Hers so that they might participate in additional 4-H opportunities. This year, Madison County youth will be going to the 4-H Citizenship Short Course in Washington, D.C., participating in State Exchange Programs with both Wisconsin and Ohio, and also the International 4-H Program, known as IFVE, and which gives 4-Hers the opportunity to visit in another country.

Recommended for approval is the petition of Tommy Davidson, owner, and Mrs. Boyd Butler, occupant, for a permit to place a 14 by 20 foot unit at 4912 Mueller Ave. Mitchell, an R-3 single family residential district of Chouteau Township.

Also to be considered is a recommendation to approve the petition of Helen Bard, owner, and Mrs. and Mrs. Leonard Schaefer, occupants, for a 12 by 65 foot mobile home near the entrance to the Arlington Heights Subdivision, north of State Aid Route 35, in an agricultural district of Nameoki Township.

The zoning board also will recommend that a variance in building setback requirements be granted to Kenneth and Phyllis Scott for a side yard at 4513 Vine St., in the Miracle Manor Subdivision, an R-4 single family residential district.

MR. AND MRS. MARK McKINNEY, who were married at St. Joseph Catholic Church. The bride is the former Miss Jean Marie Richardson, daughter of Mrs. Josephine Richardson, 2912 Iowa St.

Miss Jean Richardson, Mark McKinney are wed

St. Joseph Catholic Church was the scene June 15 of the wedding of Miss Jean Marie Richardson, daughter of Mrs. Josephine Richardson, 2912 Iowa St., and Mark McKinney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob McKinney of Mexico, Mo., formerly of Granite City.

The Rev. Henry Mack performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with all-white summer blossoms and greenery.

A program of wedding music was furnished by Miss LeElla Limka, vocalist, and Miss Terry Phelps, organist. The selections included "The First Time Ever I Saw Your Face"; "The Wedding Song"; and "We've Only Just Begun."

The bridal attendants preceded to the altar to the melody of "Jean." The former Miss Richardson was given in marriage by her brother, Michael Richardson.

She wore a gown of white organza and petit d'ange lace over tulle. The fitted bodice trimmed with tiny tucks and pearls was designed with a Victorian neckline and long lace sleeves.

Motifs of lace adorned the full length skirt and a double row of wide scalloped lace at the hem extended into a graceful court train. Her formal veil of illusion, bordered in lace, cascaded in a narrow lace headband.

She carried a Colonial bouquet of white poms, baby breath and pink Sweetheart roses.

The wedding procession was led by the bridesmaids, Miss Dianne Hoffman, Miss Cherie Chapman, Mrs. Regina Wigger, sister of the groom; and Mrs. Fran Slater, the bride's cousin, as matron of honor.

Their escorts were Phil Barham, Michael McKinney, the bride's brother, Gary Wigger, the groom's brother-in-law, and Vic Fernandez, the best man.

Miss Amy Wigger, niece of the groom, was the flower girl and the ring bearer was Jimmy Modin.

The gowns of the attendants were identically styled in pastel shades of pink, blue, green and yellow. Their dotted swiss dresses had square lace trimmed necklines, long full sleeves and softly gathered floor length skirts.

They held Colonial arrangements of white poms and multicolored daisy poms, with satin streamers. The flower girl carried a basket of pink and white flowers.

Darryl Slater, a cousin of the bride, and Gary Doza served as ushers.

Mrs. Richardson, the bride's mother, selected a long gown in pale aqua worn with white accessories. Mrs. McKinney chose a floor length frock in pink with gold accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

After the ceremony about 200 guests greeted the newlyweds at a reception at the American Legion Hall, 1825 State St. Miss Vicki McInnis presided at the guest book and distributed small scrolls to the guests as mementos of the wedding.

Miss Debbie Modlin and Miss Gini Harlan served cake from a table decorated with a centerpiece of varicolored summer flowers.

Parents of the groom hosted the rehearsal dinner at Temple's Smorgasbord.

The newly married couple is now residing in Mexico, Mo., following a honeymoon trip to the Ozarks region.

MR. AND MRS. CECIL L. YOUNG. They exchanged wedding vows in an early afternoon ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Broyles, 1516 Garfield Ave. She is the former Denise Lorraine Broyles.

Miss Denise Broyles marries Cecil Young

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Broyles, 1516 Garfield Ave., was the scene of the wedding of their daughter, Miss Denise Lorraine Broyles, and Cecil L. Young of Brownsville, Tex., son of Mrs. Margaret Young McNeil, 2266 Grand Ave., and the late Cecil Young. Yellow and white majestic daisies with green ferns and candelabra decorated the home for the 2 p.m. double ring ceremony on June 25. Associate Circuit Court Judge Merlin G. Hiscott officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a white polyester organza gown with Venice lace trim. Lace edged the square neckline, the midriff of the fitted bodice and short puff sleeves.

The full length skirt was bordered with a wide ruffle of matching organza. She wore a melody length veil enhanced with Chantilly lace and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and baby breath.

Mrs. Glendora F. Adams served as matron of honor, with Miss Pamela L. Broyles, sister to the bride, as bridesmaid.

Mary Beth Broyles, a niece, was the flower girl. She was accompanied by Kurt C. Bronnauer, the bride's nephew, who served as ringbearer.

The attendants wore floral chiffon gowns imprinted with large yellow daisies with centers in orange and green. The scoop necklines were enhanced with a double flounce ruffle extending over the shoulders and briefly capping the arm.

Empire waistlines topped the flared skirts and narrow green satin ribbon bow in front ended in long streamers.

Each carried a bouquet of orange and yellow daisies, carnations and baby breath. The flower girl wore a floor length coral colored frock and a white picture hat. She carried a basket of rose petals.

John McNeil Jr., brother of the groom, served as best man, with Anthony Broyles, a brother of the bride, as groomsman. Anthony Broyles, a brother of the bride, seated the guests.

She carried a bouquet of white Elegance carnations intermingled with bridal pink rosebuds and baby breath.

Mrs. Jeanne Bennett, sister of the bride, served as honor attendant with bridesmaids Mrs. Linda Kindernay, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Lisa Novosel.

Knit jersey polyester fashioned with Empire bodices and halters were worn by the attendants. Matching hooded jackets complemented their attire. All wore identical dresses with the honor attendant in pink and the brides in blue and pink. Each carried a nosegay of pink and white elegance intermingled with bridal pink rose buds and baby breath.

Jodi Hemby and Johnny Sportsman, cousins of the bride, were the flower girl and ring bearer. The former wore a long blue floral dotted swiss gown. Baby breath was worn in her hair and she carried a basket of rose petals.

Pat Martin served as best man. The groomsmen were Bob Lowell and Ralph Bennett, brother-in-law to the bride.

Guests at the church were seated by Lenny McGee, brother of the bride, and Robby Henke, a cousin of the bride.

Mrs. McGee, the bride's mother, chose a navy blue crepe gown trimmed in white. The formal length dress was made in Empire style and she wore matching accessories.

Mrs. Johnson, the groom's mother, selected a long gown of pale peach polyester crepe fashioned along princess lines. Her accessories were in a complementary shade. Both wore pink corsages of pink Sweetheart roses.

A reception was held at the VFW Hall following the ceremony. Miss Joy Barr presided over the guest book.

The former Miss McGee is a graduate of Granite City High School North. She is employed at Sears Roebuck Co. at Jamestown Mall, St. Louis County.

The bridegroom was graduated from Granite City High School in 1973. He works at Granite City Steel.

DUTY TO COUNTRY is emphasized at a retreat ceremony last week at Boy Scout Camp Sunnen near Potosi, Mo. The local camp is in the heart of the Clark National Forest. Scouts serving as the color guard near the flagpole are Wesley Stanfill, Martin Fiedler, Dan Moutria and Darren Geisler, all members of Boy Scout Troop Seven, sponsored by St. Joseph Catholic Church; Major John Johnson, not pictured, is the scoutmaster.

Over 1,200 scouts from Madison and Bond Counties will spend a week at Sunnen this summer. The camp opened during the summer of 1953 and has consistently received national recognition for its excellence in program and general operation.

Scouts camp in individual troop campsites under the same volunteer adult leadership they have at home. A group of highly trained young men, specialists in such areas as swimming, boating, lifesaving, cooking, campcraft, marksmanship, archery and other skills, make up the camp staff that gives assistance to the scoutmasters and boy leaders.

In the background are ceremonial teepees of the Cahokia Lodge, Order of the Arrow, a national brotherhood of scout honor campers. When darkness sets in on certain evenings, the area around the teepees comes alive with the beat of tomtoms and the dancing of "Indians," as part of calling-out ceremonies for new members of the Order.

Chorale will sing at Kennedy Center

The Concert Chorale of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, recent winner of the 7th International Choral Competition in Spittal, Austria, will perform Sunday at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C.

The 45-minute concert is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. in the Grand Foyer of the Kennedy Center.

The concert will be the first public appearance of the SIUE choral group after returning from a month's tour of Europe. Special arrangements for the performance were made by the office of U.S. Senator Charles Percy (R-Ill.) after it was announced July 7 that the choir had won the international event in Austria.

The SIUE chorale, directed by Leonard Van Camp, was the only American choir in the competition with 10 other choral groups from seven countries.

The 44-student chorale and the director and his wife left here June 21.

Other concerts on the four-week itinerary have included St. Martin-in-the-Fields, Chichester, Coventry, Bad Hersfeld, Prague, St. Florian, Venice, Meran, Reutte, Salzburg, Gleisdorf and Vienna. The concert in Prague was the first ever presented in Czechoslovakia by an American choir.

Raw milk can be deadly

Inflation could turn good old Bossy into a killer deadlier than the fighting bull.

Noting a tendency, in these days of inflation, for households to try to cut costs by going directly to the source for commodities, the State Public Health Department has issued a warning not to try this with milk.

Harold McAvoy, chief of the department's Division of Milk Control, said there is nothing illegal about buying direct from the source—or at least from the source's agent and business manager, the farmer. But there are a lot of reasons why it is unwise.

Raw milk so purchased may be loaded with a lot more than vitamins and protein. It isn't by chance that milk is the most regulated food product in the United States. As recently as the 1930s and 1940s, McAvoy said, there were large numbers of milk-borne epidemics which resulted in serious illness and deaths directly traceable to unpasteurized milk.

Illinois has had no milk-borne outbreak of disease reported in the state in 25 years. Public health officials attribute the healthy record to rigid enforcement of state and federal laws which govern production, packaging and distribution of dairy products.

That's a Grade A assignment in itself; the state produces more than five billion pounds of milk annually.

Pasteurization is the process which makes all that milk safe to drink. It is also a complex process not to be undertaken lightly at home by pouring raw milk into a pan and heating it for awhile.

Too little treatment and the milk can still be carrying healthy disease organisms; too much and the milk boils away, or is likely to have a burned or scorched taste, McAvoy says.

An unsuccessful attempt at home pasteurization may, in fact, result instead in additional contamination.

In the professional hands of the public health department, controls start with Bossy herself, since all dairy herds are routinely checked for disease by the department.

Two inspections are made routinely each year, and additional follow-ups are made if violations are found.

Processing plants and pasteurization equipment receive regular inspections, as do bottling and packaging operations.

Throughout the year, the state public health lab receives samples of both raw and pasteurized milk collected from all producers in the state. Any sample which, on analysis, doesn't meet standards is immediately removed from the market.

Without the benefit of Dr. Pasteur's treatment, good old bucolic Bossy may yield up a foaming bucket loaded with such fringe benefits as typhoid fever, para-typhoid fever, scarlet fever, septic sore throat, gastro-enteritis, diphtheria, slaph food poisoning and even more.

Considering the odds, gambling the family's health against a few cents saved by buying raw milk makes only pint-sized sense, public health officials feel.

New agreement on graduate nursing

A new agreement between the Department of Registration and Education and the state Board of Higher Education will insure development of graduate nursing education programs in Illinois, according to Dr. Dean Barringer, DRE director.

Barringer said, "The agreement is set forth in a memorandum of understanding consisting of two points.

"The first point delegates responsibility for the creation, initial approval and supervision of graduate nursing education programs (and other non-licensure programs) at public universities and community colleges to the Board of Higher Education.

"Under the second point, DRE will continue to set minimum standards in these schools for approved nursing education programs leading to licensure."

Barringer said the agreement provides respective boundaries of responsibility under nurse education laws administered by DRE which in some respects cover areas also under various institutional governing bodies, and which have received varying legal interpretations.

Dr. Cameron West, executive director of the Board of Higher Education, said, "I feel this represents an important step forward in the continuing development of nursing education in Illinois."

Barringer commented, "Preparation of nurse candidates for licensure rests on many shoulders. We must be progressive within the law to allow every possible cooperative effort in this endeavor."

June rains left high water table in state

Another month of above normal rainfall caused abnormal runoff and overflowing rivers in most of Illinois in June, according to William C. Ackermann, chief of the Illinois State Water Survey. His report covers the period prior to the dry spell in the first half of July.

The Mississippi, Illinois, Embarras and other major rivers were from six to 10 feet above flood stage at the beginning of June and remained bankfull or above throughout the month.

Serious flooding and flash flooding occurred over the weekend of June 22 as heavy rainfall flooded the Rock and Illinois river basins.

Sharp rises, as much as eight feet, affected the Green, Pecatonica, Rock, Spoon, Embarras, Sangamon and Little Wabash rivers. Salt Creek in northeastern Illinois also was above flood stage.

Extensive erosion occurred because the heavy rainfall hit fields with practically no plant cover, Ackermann said. It is estimated that nearly one ton each second of rich farm soil from the 906-square-mile Sangamon River watershed passed over the Lake Decatur spillway during the four days of June 22-25.

The two flood control lakes on the Kaskaskia River have been in a state of flood for more than six months. Lake Shelbyville was at elevation 620.94 feet, a rise of nearly six feet during June and over 20 feet above normal pool elevation.

About 3,400 cubic feet per second were passing through the spillway gates.

Lake Carlyle rose more than five feet in the past month and was nine feet above normal pool elevation. It was spilling at the rate of 4,200 cubic feet per second.

Only Rend Lake declined during June, from elevation 497.38 to 496.83 feet.

The level of Lake Michigan rose a quarter of a foot during June to 581 feet, which was its level one year ago. Lake Michigan's all-time high for June was recorded in 1886 when the level was nearly 59 feet.

As might be expected, Ackermann said, the natural water table in areas outside of pump farm centers was well above normal during June. The highest above-normal reading was 5 1/2 feet in a well in northwestern Illinois. Only one well, at Cairo, recorded a slight decline of 1/4 foot.

Congress urged to reject 'ban the can' and adopt resource recovery proposal

A spokesman for the American Iron and Steel Institute has urged Congress to reject national "ban the can" proposals.

He instead called for passage of legislation which would promote municipal solid waste processing systems to recover valuable metallic wastes for recycling and convert other trash into useable energy.

The recommendation was made by George A. Stinson, chairman and chief executive officer of National Steel Corp., in testimony prepared for delivery before the Senate Public Works Committee's Subcommittee on Environmental Pollution.

Stinson noted that under the Resource Recovery Act, the steel industry gave dozens of cities written guarantees of a market for ferrous scrap recovered from municipal waste by magnetic separation, should they obtain federal demonstration grants for construction of resource recovery systems.

One such project in this metropolitan area, involving the Environmental Protection Agency, Granite City Steel and Union Electric Co., has been so successful that the power firm has announced plans to build a $70 million plant that will process all the refuse in the greater St. Louis metropolitan area.

Systems also are developing in New Orleans; the state of Connecticut, Ames, Iowa; Wilmington, Del.; Baltimore; San Diego County; Charleston, W. Va., and elsewhere to recover energy and resources from waste, he said.

"Now the technology exists to recover energy and resources from municipal refuse across the entire United States," Stinson commented.

According to Stinson, continued development of the promising resource recovery concept would receive great impetus from one bill currently before the Public Works Committee.

The measure is S. 3560, introduced by Senator Jennings Randolph (D-W.Va.), which would seek to phase out municipal dumps and provide federal loans and loan guarantees for construction of municipal resource recovery systems.

On the other hand, Stinson said, another bill before the Committee—S. 3549—would do serious harm to the economy without effectively attacking the most important elements of the nation's solid waste problems.

In essence, Stinson said, the latter bill would assure a nationwide ban on the sale and distribution of steel and aluminum cans.

"The cure in this case is more damaging than the disease," he told the committee. "It's akin to killing all cats and dogs to prevent rabies, or prohibiting all car use to prevent tooth decay."

Stinson noted that on a dollar basis, about 75 per cent of all finished goods purchased by consumers in this country are packaged.

The package-making industry, he said, is the nation's third largest employer; 42,368 steelworkers alone were directly employed in producing steel for the manufacturing industry in 1972.

In West Virginia, steel workers thus employed accounted for ten per cent of the state's total workforce engaged in manufacturing and mining, according to Stinson.

The "ban the can" bill "isn't even a cure for the litter disease," he said. "Metal cans constitute only 15 per cent to 18 per cent, by weight, of the litter problem."

Stinson called the Randolph bill "a positive and realistic approach to resource recovery and energy conservation."

He noted, however, that a provision in the bill would give preferred preference to the purchase of goods made from recycled materials. This could pose problems for the steel industry, since the amount of scrap recycled is almost totally dependent on the process used to produce the product, he noted.

Monroe heads school trustees

At its regular quarterly meeting in July, the Madison County Regional Board of School Trustees officially seated the members re-elected in March, Karl L. Monroe of Collinsville and G. A. Shaffer of Troy.

Monroe was elected as president of the seven-man board for the next biennium. Also serving on the board are Gordon Burroughs, Edwardsville; Frank M. Leever, Wood River; Home Huber, Granite City; Joseph Berry, retiring president of Alton; and Gerald Walton, Hartford.

Meeting dates for the 1974-75 year are: Oct. 7, Jan. 6 and April 7. All meetings are held in the office of the Education Service Region, 201 Hillsboro, Courthouse Annex, Edwardsville, at 7 p.m.

The trustees hold title to all school properties in the county and handle sale of school property at the request of local boards of education, as well as territory detachment and annexation from one school district to another as petitioned by residents.

employees were announced Tuesday by Arnold G. Franke, director of labor relations for Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Franke said the groups, unions and their representatives are: Printing shop employees, Graphic Arts International Union, Local 505; Walter Creel, representative; food service employees, Service Employees International Union, Local 50; Dan Sorbie, representative; and security employees, Teamsters International Union, Local 825; Vic Horyn, representative.

"We feel satisfied that the packages approved will provide conditions for improved employee relations in the university community," Franke said.

All of the contracts cover extended periods of time. The agreements with food service and security employees are for two years. The pact with printing shop employees covers three years, with a wage reopener clause after two years.

Franke said negotiations are under way with building engineers, represented by Operating Engineers International Union, Local 520 and custodial and grounds employees, represented by Service Employees International Union, Local 50.

Officials being asked to drop idea of merging regional ports

St. Charles (Mo.) County Court judges have called on the Bi-State Development Agency and the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council to drop their attempt to create a St. Louis-area regional port authority operating under Bi-State management. It was learned Tuesday. The plan also might affect Illinois ports.

The suggestion was made Monday in a letter to John G. Brawley, Bi-State chairman and Gov. Christopher Bond's nominee as director of the State Department of Transportation, which will have jurisdiction over ports under a new Missouri Port Authority Act.

Copies of the letter were sent to Gov. Bond, Gov. Daniel

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Thurs., July 18, 1974 Page 40

Walker of Illinois and East-West Gateway Chairman Lawrence K. Ross.

What prompted the judges' action was a "memorandum of co-operative understanding," scheduled to be discussed at a meeting of Bi-State representatives and a Port Task Force of the East-West Gateway Council.

The memorandum represents a continued effort to switch port control to Bi-State, the judges contend, despite the new Port Authority Act which becomes effective Aug. 13.

There are also errors of fact in the "memorandum of understanding," the St. Charles County Court finds.

The memorandum implies that A. T. Kearney, Inc., management consultants, give unqualified approval to the idea of a Regional Port Authority for the St. Louis area.

The Kearney report suggests that no step toward regionalism be taken without first considering a number of intermediate considerations, the judges assert.

"Significantly," the St. Charles judges say, "the Kearney report warns that a proposal to establish a Regional Port Authority may encounter strong resistance by local governments."

"It also suggests the possibility that the need for a Regional Port Authority may not have existed in the first place."

The "memorandum of co-operative understanding" is in error, the St. Charles officials say, in asserting that the Bi-State Agency could fulfill "about limitation" certain services recommended by the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council.

"Actually," the judges say, "the Missouri-Illinois bi-state compact places certain limitations on what the Bi-State Development Agency can do in certain areas without getting approval of the governments involved."

"Bi-State would, therefore, have to submit its port development plans to local governments."

Bi-State's power to serve "without limitation" also is restricted by other provisions of the bi-state compact, such as the right of local governments to develop or improve their own terminal facilities.

Nor would Bi-State have the power to take the property of any state, county, city or other governmental unit, or to impair the bonded indebtedness of any duly-established state or local government, it was brought out in the letter.

The St. Charles judges point out that the Port of St. Louis and three ports on the Illinois side of the Mississippi River in the St. Louis area came into being without benefit of a regional authority or the Missouri-Illinois bi-state compact.

While all the ports undoubtedly can be made of cooperating with one another, it is highly doubtful that any of the established Illinois ports would be able to see any advantages in a single regional port authority for the St. Louis-area waterways, the St. Charles officials say.

Illinois ports have openly expressed opposition in the past to any attempt at domination by the Bi-State Development Agency.

"The St. Charles County Court," the letter to Brawley continued, "reserves to its citizens and taxpayers the right to promote, manage and operate their land and waterway resources to their own benefit and advantage.

"They are also pleased, of course, at the opportunity this gives St. Charles County to make a very great contribution to the economic welfare of the St. Louis area."

The letter to Brawley was signed by the three judges of the St. Charles County Court — Douglas Boeschert, presiding judge, and Darby R. Tally and Dr. J. C. Oliver, associate judges.

Scott to spotlight spillage of hazardous chemicals in state

Attorney General William J. Scott reports he will seek no significant changes in the staff attorneys now employed by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

He called for maximum coordination between the EPA and the Attorney General's office "at the earliest possible moment."

Scott conveyed that assurance to Dr. Richard H. Briceland, director of the Illinois environmental agency.

At the same time, he called for an expeditious, joint program by the EPA and the Attorney General's office to draft rules and regulations for state-wide protection against the accidental spillage or leakage of hazardous chemicals and substances. The legislature failed to enact bills designed to provide these safeguards in this session, it was noted.

The Illinois General Assembly has approved legislation (S. 1357) which calls for the Illinois attorney general to provide all legal services to the environmental agency.

Under the new legislation, if it is signed by Gov. Walker, the present legal staff of the EPA will become assistant attorneys-general and all legal actions will be subject to Scott's review.

In announcing that there would be no significant EPA staff changes under the new legislation, Scott also underscored the fact the legislation does not apply to members of the director's office, division heads, or persons in like administrative and policymaking position, whether or not they are attorneys.

Scott sought to allay speculation voiced during legislative debate that attorneys in administrative and other non-legal positions might be so affected.

On the matter of rules and regulations for protection of public against spillage or leakage of hazardous substances and chemicals, such as the perilous recent spread of acid mist on Chicago's densely-populated south side, Scott said:

"I wish to express to you our serious and dedicated desire to proceed expeditiously to obtain the promulgation of hazardous substances regulations by the Illinois Pollution Control Board."

"As you know, to this end, I have already publicly announced my intention to provide through this office all necessary legal assistance to see that that job is done.

"It is my hope that my people can cooperate with the technically-qualified members of your agency in deriving a regulatory presentation which can be made in the near future to the Pollution Control Board in this regard."

Scott said the joint effort is a matter of urgency because the legislature failed to approve Scott's own anti-disaster bill (S. 1443), introduced by Sen. James Bell (R, Joliet), and also failed to provide funds to develop such a program in an amendment to the EPA appropriations bill.

To expedite coordination of all Illinois anti-pollution legal activities, Scott directed Assistant Attorney General Larry Eaton, chief of the Environmental Enforcement Division in Springfield, to meet with Dr. Briceland and his staff "at the earliest possible moment," Scott said.

"It is essential that we proceed in a constitutional and smoothly coordinated manner with an enforcement program to provide the fullest possible protection to the 11 million residents of this state against the degradation of environmental pollution."

Expanded bus service

A bus route to serve the Nameoki Road shopping centers and The Anchorage area as well as a direct bus line from the Quad-Cities to East St. Louis were pledged by the Bi-State Transit System in letters to the Granite City Council Monday night. The changes are to begin Sept. 1.

In a letter to City Attorney George Pilecki, read at the council meeting, James E. Terry, general manager of Bi-State Transit, pledged to extend the East Granite bus line to serve Nameoki Road shopping centers and The Anchorage.

A portion of the text follows.

"All trips between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., Mondays through Fridays, and the entire schedule on Saturdays will operate via The Anchorage and also continue northwardly to serve shopping centers along Nameoki Road."

"We propose that the northern terminal of the line will be at the new Crossroads Shopping Center located on the west side of Nameoki, south of Pontoon."

"However, it should be noted that the extension to Crossroads will involve a lengthening of the interval between buses from the present 30-minute schedule to every 40 minutes."

Terry also pledged direct service from Granite City, Madison and Venice to East St. Louis in a letter to Mayor Paul Schulz, also read Monday night. A portion of that text follows:

"At a recent public hearing regarding a federal grant application for partial funding of new buses and other capital items, a point was made of the fact that Bi-State Transit provides no direct service between Granite City and East St. Louis."

This is not entirely factual since the branch of the Alton-St. Louis line which operates on the Illinois side of the river does provide a connection via Highway 203.

"However, this does not serve the needs of many of those who might want to travel between East St. Louis and the Madison, Venice and Brooklyn areas."

"We have therefore considered an alternate means of providing such direct service by an extension of the existing West Granite-Stockyards bus line.

"We plan to extend this line, effective with the fall schedules on Sept. 1, from its present terminus at Blackridge via St. Louis and Collinsville Avenue to Main and Broadway in downtown East St. Louis."

"The principal reason that this extension has not been considered in the past is that our supervisory people have observed unusual traffic delays at a railroad crossing located at St. Clair & Packers (East St. Louis). However, we believe that the added service that will be afforded by this extension is worth the risk — at least on a trial basis."

The exact route of the extended service has not been finally determined but it will be well publicized in advance of the change."

Cash box with $1,575 taken

A cash box containing $1,575 was stolen from the trunk of a new car in the showroom of Brewer Motor Co., 2165 Madison Ave., it was reported Monday.

Wire covering a window on the south side of the shop area was pried off and a window pane was broken.

The burglar went directly to the new car, evidence indicated, and attempted to pry open the trunk, damaging the auto. A key to the auto was removed from a key board and the trunk then was opened.

Two sets of keys from the board were stolen.

The burglar is believed to have left the building through the same window used to enter.

Charge 3 in theft of beer

Three Florissant, Mo., youths were charged with theft after police allegedly found eight cases of beer next to their car at the rear of Eddie's Lounge, 800 Nameoki Road, at 2:50 a.m. Tuesday.

Locks had been broken from an outside cooler with rocks, and the cooler door was open, officers said. Charged were the car driver, Robert Thompson, 19, and two younger passengers.

SHA NA NA musical group which revives "rock and roll" songs of past years. It will appear at the Mississippi River Festival at SIUE at 8:30 p.m., Wednesday, July 24.

Films, Scott Joplin tunes, Sha Na Na scheduled for River Festival at SIUE

Award-winning animated films are the next subject at the Mississippi River Festival film festival July 22 and the New England Conservatory Ragtime Ensemble will bring Scott Joplin tunes to the festival July 23 at 8:30 p.m.

The popular rock group, Sha Na Na, will appear July 24 at 8:30 p.m. at the MRF concert area of the SIUE campus.

Animated films which will be shown at 8:30 Monday evening are varied.

"Zagreb Festival" is a series of films without dialogue from the famous Zagreb Film Studios in Yugoslavia; the subject matter is not suitable for children.

"Yellow Submarine" is the happy, straightforward tale of how the Beatles drove the Blue Meanies out of Pepperland.

Two animated short films, "Why Man Creates" and "The Dot and the Line" are described as sure to delight any filmgoer.

The New England Conservatory Ragtime Ensemble appearing Tuesday was formed by Gunther Schuller, the Conservatory's president, in the spring of 1972 as part of a Romantic American Music Festival.

It has grown into a nationally renowned musical group with universal acclaim, a Grammy Award, and a place atop sales charts.

The Ensemble's original concert was performed as a modest effort to acquaint the Festival audience with the work of a unique American composer.

Its repertoire has now expanded from the eight Scott Joplin pieces first recorded to 40 compositions, including the work of ragtime masters James Scott and Joseph Lamb, and of the predecessors of Scott Joplin—Louis Moreau Gottschalk, Debussy, Ives, Stravinsky—plus Jelly Roll Morton.

The 12-piece New England Conservatory Ragtime Ensemble is composed of flute or piccolo, clarinet, trumpet, trombone, tuba, piano, drums, two violins, viola, cello and bass.

Its latest album, "Scott Joplin: The Red Back Book," includes "The Entertainer," "Maple Leaf Rag," "Easy Winners" and "The Rag Time Dance."

Sha Na Na brings a rock and roll celebration to the local festival. Composed of ten multi-talented professionals, the group has enjoyed a successful five years.

From Fulmore East to Woodstock to Europe, the appearances of Sha Na Na have been frenzied and in demand.

In 1973, the group played to crowds of 40,000 in Boston and 45,000 in Wisconsin, and it has performed on numerous television shows. Sha Na Na has six albums on the Kama Sutra label: "Rock and Roll Is Here To Stay" (released in October 1969), "Sha Na Na" (June 1971),

"The Night Is Still Young" (May 1971), "The Golden Age of Rock 'n' Roll" (May 1973),

"From the Streets of New York" (October 1973), "Pot Set" (May 1974).

Tickets for the films are $2 general admission. Priced from $2 to $5.50, tickets are available for the Tuesday and Wednesday concerts at bi-state area box offices. Liquor is prohibited on the SIUE campus.

Income taxes distributed

The Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs has announced distribution of $16,467,400 to Illinois counties and municipalities as their share of state income tax collections in May.

Municipalities received $14,186,365 and counties received $2,281,035. Madison County allocations included: $110,656 for the county's unincorporated areas; $60,292 to Granite City, $10,434 to Madison, $3,627 to Pontoon Beach and $6,934 to Venice.

The distribution is made on a per capita basis to municipalities, while counties receive distribution on the basis of population in unincorporated areas.

Job's Daughters plan activities

Red, white and blue streamers and napkins and miniature American flags decorated the tables last week at a meeting of Bethel 43, International Order of Job's Daughters, held at the Masonic Temple.

About 45 members and guests attended the program, conducted by Miss Kathleen Lane, honored queen.

Final plans were made to attend "Ainad's Night at Busch Stadium," set for tomorrow evening, and a performance of "I Do, I Do" at the St. Louis Mundy Opera on Sunday.

Also reviewed was attendance at a "Job-A-Rama" scheduled July 25 to July 28 at Bloomington. Bethel 43 members have been invited to take part in activities at the Tri-City Area YMCA each Monday evening during the summer months, Miss Lane reported.

Miss Cindy McDaniel gave the librarian's report, dealing with the topic "Hugs."

Introduced and escorted during the rituals were Miss Joy Pope, junior past honored queen and grand bethele musician; Miss Becky Graham, past honored queen; Miss Becky Burke, grand representative from Illinois to Kentucky; and Mrs. Becky Slate and Dr. Amos Rode, bethele guardian and associate guardian, respectively. All are from the Granite City bethele.

Comment and analysis

July 18, 1974

Washington bureau—Court needs to define extent of executive privilege

The attitude of the Founding Fathers toward a role for the Supreme Court in the impeachment process was best expressed by Alexander Hamilton in the Federalist Papers.

A well-constituted court of impeachment would be difficult to obtain in a government wholly elective because the offense in question would be a violation of the public trust—and this always generates political overtones, Hamilton said. He did not believe that the Supreme Court was the proper tribunal for the resolution of impeachment matters because it didn't "possess the degree of credit and authority which might... be indispensable toward reconciling the people to a decision that should happen to clash with an accusation brought by their immediate representative."

That was in the late 1780s. Recently the U.S. Supreme Court achieved what might turn out to be a dominant role in the current impeachment inquiry. Whether the ultimate court decision is considered favorable or adverse to President Nixon, it will heavily influence the outcome of the impeachment inquiry that is under way and it will establish substantial precedent for future courts.

Washington bureau—Warren advanced cause of fairness, equity under law

Some men and women earn their niches in history while they still are alive.

Others do not gain renown until they are judged by history itself because their temporal contributions to their society are so controversial.

Earl Warren, who died July 9, falls in history on two categories. He has already earned a niche in history on the basis of his contributions as attorney general and governor of California and as Chief Justice of the United States of America.

How large that niche will be will not be known for some time, perhaps not for decades because Mr. Warren presided over the highest court in the land at such a critical time in our national history.

His leadership, which sought

Lower speed reducing U. S. highway fatality toll by substantial margin

A year ago few Americans would have believed they could achieve a reduction of almost 25 percent in the number of traffic fatalities on a long 8-week holiday weekend. It has happened, however, and traffic officials around the country are almost unanimous in attributing the relatively good safety record to the nationwide 55 mile per hour speed limit.

General highway traffic has

Redbacks would remind all that deficit spending accelerates inflation

The signature of Francine Neff, the new U.S. Treasurer, will begin appearing soon on dollar bills, and that would be the only change if Mrs. Neff has her way. She thinks paper money should be printed with red ink instead of green until the federal government stops financing itself by borrowing to cover deficit budgets. That would be a bit unnerving, since the familiar green of our money is about all it has retained

Propose port area industry

Following are the "action recommendations" contained in Phase One of a Metropolitan St. Louis Port Study.

Developed by A. T. Kearney, Inc., Chicago management consultants, and the Port Development Task Force of the West Gateway Coordinating Council, the 1974 report includes four suggestions for near-term implementation and 17th recommendations for "consideration after the first four are fully implemented." E perils from the study follow.

In the near term the following actions are recommended:

1. Establish a regionwide port promotional fund.
2. The objective of this fund should be to enhance the economy of the St. Louis regional area by promoting river-related activity in the Port of Metropolitan St. Louis.
3. The study recommends that the promotional fund should concentrate its initial efforts on the following activities:
  - (a) Provide knowledgeable waterways-oriented support to the general economic development activities of authorized agencies in the region.

(b) Actively encourage the establishment of rail-water coal transfer facilities at major coal nodes in the St. Louis regional area.

(c) Assemble and maintain a complete regionwide list of available waterway industrial sites including key factual information about each.

(d) Aggressively market the inherent strategic advantages of the St. Louis regional area to those companies whose facility location decisions may be influenced by them. Efforts should be concentrated on the following industries:

- (1) Chemical processing and distribution.
- (2) Petroleum refining and distribution.
- (3) Fertilizer processing and distribution.
- (4) Grain mixing and milling.
- (5) Aluminum reduction and processing.
- (6) Support further penetration of the overseas markets served via the LASH and/or SEABEE systems including favorable import-export rail rates to/from St. Louis.

By enemies of the Nixon administration or even by the news media.

On the contrary, Watergate was perpetrated upon America by White House and political aides, whom Pres. Richard Nixon himself had entrusted with the management of his campaign for re-election.

I will refrain from commenting on whether the President met his Constitutional obligation to "take care that the laws be faithfully executed." But those who perpetrated Watergate were virtually without experience in either government or politics apart from their association with Pres. Nixon.

As one after another of the individuals who participated in the cover-up went into action an inexorable spiritual law which Rudyard Kipling phrased "For the sin you do by two and two, you must pay for one by one."

Watergate is unprecedented in the political annals of America in respect to the scope and intensity of

Transcript omissions included talk of 'cover-up'

By LESTER BELL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

President Nixon's omissions in "recorded conversations" over the House Judiciary Committee will be more damaging publicly than the actual cover-up of the Watergate scandal, Rep. Robert McClellan of Illinois said.

The second-ranking Republican on the committee was referring to 16 pages of a March 22, 1973, conversation transcribed from Watergate tapes by the committee which were not given to the committee in the White House version.

When the committee made public its transcripts of eight recorded Presidential conversations, it was this 16-page White House omission that generated news stories linking President Nixon directly to the Watergate cover-up.

The President was talking in the Executive Office Building with John Dean, John Erlichman, H. R. Haldeman and John Mitchell.

On page 99 of the committee's transcript, which McClellan said he had in his possession, appeared a segment of conversation which reporters called as the most damaging of what has appeared so far.

"I don't give a—what happens," the President is quoted in the committee transcript. "I want you all to stonewall it, let them plead the Fifth Amendment, cover-up or anything else. I want to save the plan. That's the whole point."

"On the other hand," the President continues immediately, "uh, uh, I would prefer, as I said to you, that you do it the other way. And I would particularly prefer to do it that other way if it's going to come out that way."

Interviewed by a break from the committee for a House quorum call, McClellan was asked what impression the public is likely to get from the latest revelations in the committee's comparison of passages with the White House version.

"It was a mistake for the White House to omit a large part of the March 22 tapes," McClellan said. "I don't think the White House omissions are deliberate or were an attempt to mislead, or it wouldn't have included the unfavorable material it did. But people will draw inferences from the omission."

McClellan noted that the task force. This group should include barge and terminal operators (both for-hire and private), purveyors of support services, major waterways users, and appropriate public agencies concerned with waterway operations.

Its objective should be to provide a forum for dialogue on issues of common interest and to support actions for the improvement of port and waterways operations which have a regional benefit.

Based on the analysis summarized in this report, this task force should address the following issues initially:

- (a) Securing a stable, 12-foot channel between St. Louis and Cairo, Ill.
- (b) Increasing available barge fleet areas in the metropolitan port.
- (c) Encouraging the speedy completion of construction efforts at Locks 26 and 27 on the Mississippi.
- (d) Supporting all efforts to improve the general level of rail service provided in the regional area.

Supporting efforts to improve the labor reputation of the St. Louis regional area.

Such planning activities on a regionwide basis are usually necessary prior to the granting of any federal funds for associated development.

4. Institute development activities appropriate at attracting water-related industries.

The prime emphasis in these efforts should be on development of water-related industrial sites suitable for efficient use of the waterways by industries which are major users of waterways transportation.

to discredit the Democratic party by defaming the memory of former Pres. John Fitzgerald Kennedy—who as the hapless victim of an assassin's bullet, had been sleeping in the tongueless silence of the dreamless dust for nine years.

Their lust for political power blinded them to ethical considerations and legal requirements; to Aristotle's aphorism that the good of man must be the end of politics; and to Greco-Roman conviction that a public office is a public trust.

They had forgotten, I am ever keen, that the Constitution is designed to be a law for rulers and people alike at all times and under all circumstances.

And that no doctrine involving more pernicious consequences to the commonwealth has ever been invented by the wit of man than the notion that any of its provisions can be suspended by the President for any reason.

On the contrary, they apparently believed that the President is above the Constitution, and has the autocratic power to suspend its provisions if he decides—in his own unreviewable judgment—that his action in so doing promotes his own political interests or the welfare of the nation.

As long as I have a mind to think, a tongue to speak, and a heart to love my country, I shall unflinchingly maintain that the Constitution confers any autocratic power on the President, or authorizes him to convert George Washington's America into Gaius Cæsar's Rome.

+++
To reduce the prospects for abuse and to assure punishment for abuse, the committee is recommending new laws regulating the conduct of political campaigns.

And something more is needed to prevent future Watergate disasters.

+++
When all is said and done, the only sure antidote is an understanding of fundamental principles of individual and moral integrity—in the men and women who achieve or are entrusted with governmental or political power.

When they questioned their own experts, the members were told that the tapes were voice actuated and they recorded when set motion by sound. The squeals signaled such action.

"I have an idea that reams of material were not taped at all," McClellan ventured, saying some conversations may have been "carried on at just a low level" to activate the tapes. He said he was not suggesting that this may have been deliberate.

McClellan said the committee on its own volition, and at his insistence, "omitted a lot" of the White House transcript.

He said the material that was deleted by the committee was report to Congress entitled "The Education of the Gifted and Talented: Report to the Congress of the United States," describing gifted students as "among the most neglected of those persons with special educational needs" within our school population.

The Illinois Plan for Evaluation, Supervision and Recognition of Schools states that the program should make provisions for students of different talents, intellectual capacities and interests."

+++
McClellan denied the opportunity to develop in relation to their abilities, our gifted and talented students are in fact being cheated of the right to their education by law.

What future discovery, invention, cure, art, opera or other greatness will never come about because of the lack of meeting the needs of our special students? Much brain power and talent, if left undeveloped, can go undeveloped through life.

I plead and urge any parent or other person interested in the education of gifted and talented students to contact me for further information at 2916 Grand Ave., Granite City, Ill. 62040, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Higher mileage pay to council

By a close vote Monday night, Granite City aldermen decided to prepare an ordinance to increase the monthly allowance for auto mileage from $25 per month to $40 per month.

German Walter Nomm of the Fifth Ward requested the increase, saying that Madison, Belleville and Alton aldermen receive $40 per month while councilmen in Granite City are allowed only $25 expenses.

The aldermen split on the issue with a 7-7 vote, leaving the deciding vote to Mayor Paul Schuler. Schuler voted "Aye," and explained he did not feel $25 was enough to reimburse the aldermen for their travel.

After Mayor Schuler broke the tie, Alderman Frank Greenwald of the Second Ward, who first had voted "no," changed his vote to "aye," thus relieving Schuler of having made the decision, as least as far as the minutes of the meeting will read.

Voting against the proposal were Aldermen William Dallas (First Ward), Sam Whitmer (Second), Clyde Poulos (Third), Claude Green (Fourth) and Gerald Parmley (Sixth).

Those in favor, besides

Greenwald and Schuler, were Aldermen Everett Morlen and William Dallas (First Ward), R. E. Robertson (Fourth), Nomm and Steve Basarich (Fifth) and Earl Saker (Sixth).

GC city auto license fees likely to be revised for '75-76 year

A proposal to revise the cost of purchasing a new city vehicle license in Granite City was defeated by the Granite City Council Monday night, but the aldermen agreed there are inequities built into the new system which should be revised for the next fiscal year starting in May 1975.

Fifth Ward Alderman Walter Nomm brought the issue to the floor, saying he had received several complaints from people who purchased different cars after the city license deadline of May 15 and had to pay what he termed a penalty.

The new city vehicle licensing ordinance provided for city stickers to sell for $3 through the May 15 deadline, and $5.50 after the deadline.

"Cars bought after the deadline should not be paying a penalty if they (the owners) can show a receipt that they just purchased the car," Nomm said.

Alderman Roy Poulos of the Third Ward agreed, saying, "We penalize the good guys, and the bad guys (who do not purchase city licenses) get by."

Agreement also came from Alderman Clyde Boyd of the Third Ward, who said, "That was not the intent of the ordinance."

Alderman Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward said it is unfair that persons purchasing stickers for new autos after the deadline should be penalized, but said he felt that too many people already had paid the penalty to stop it during this fiscal year.

He suggested that the ordinance be revised for the next fiscal year to provide a liberalized transfer fee "of maybe a buck."

Sixth Ward Alderman Gerald Parmley said the ordinance also has presented a problem on $1 stickers for senior citizens. "We should have limited senior citizens to one sticker each. Some have gotten three or four. We have sold 1,500 senior citizen stickers, and the ordinance was set up for maybe 500 at the most," Parmley said.

He explained that the ordinance was intended to give senior citizens $1 stickers and to make up for the lost income to the city by charging more for stickers after the May 15 deadline.

Parmley said that, as chairman of the committee which drafted the ordinance, he would take any criticism caused by its wording, but he felt the present policy should be continued through the end of this fiscal year.

It was suggested that all city stickers cost $5 next year, except the senior citizens' stickers, which would cost $1 and be limited to one for each car owner over 65 years of age.

City Clerk Robert W. Stevens said 15,700 city auto stickers have been sold thus far this year. "We've never sold that many before. We must be doing something right," he said.

Alderman Nomm persisted, saying, "Two wrongs do not make a right."

He asked for the ordinance to be revised immediately to provide a $1 transfer fee for persons purchasing different cars, and limiting senior citizens to one sticker each.

"Any little help we can give the taxpayers, I think they appreciate," he added.

Alderman Emerald Dawes of the Seventh Ward disagreed, saying the city's record-keeping system would not allow rebates to persons who already have paid the $5.50 to transfer their licenses, and it would be unfair to start charging less now.

The proposal to revise the ordinance this year lost on a 10-4 vote, with Nomm, R. E. Robertson of the Fourth Ward, Boyd and Steve Basarich of the Fifth Ward voting for immediate revision.

No new strike talks planned

No new meetings had been arranged this week between a federal mediator and officials and striking employees of Fabricland in the Nameki Village Shopping Center.

Seven retail clerks, all women, have been on strike since failure to reach agreement on an initial contract late last month. The employees unanimously voted to join Retail Clerks Local 435 of Wood River during a National Labor Relations Board election May 15, union officials said.

Representatives of both sides met with the mediator Thursday, but no progress was reported.

Picketing at the local store is continuing during business hours, but company officials said business is being conducted by management personnel. A union spokesman said the employees were paid from $1.35 to $1.90 per hour before the strike with only one employee making the top scale. Wages begin at $2.17 per hour and go up at all other local stores where

Financial records vital for sound business management

Can a trial lawyer who can't hear the judge in court deduct the cost of a hearing aid as a business expense?

Can a movie stuntman deduct the costs of physical therapy classes?

Can an ever-punctual Army officer deduct the costs of his wristwatch or a clock he installed in the enlisted men's barracks?

The Internal Revenue Service has said "no" to these samples from its gallery of attempted business deductions. They indicate the differences that sometimes arise between a business or professional person and the IRS over application of the tax law.

However, the chief source of disagreement in an IRS business audit is less likely to be over what is deductible than over how much. This is a problem that good business records can solve, a spokesman in the Springfield district office has advised the Press-Record.

The income tax law requires every business person to maintain records that will support complete and accurate returns.

No particular form of records is required, so a bookkeeping system can be adjusted to business needs. But permanent books of accounts or records, including inventories, must clearly establish not only gross income but also deductions and credits.

Some of the permanent books needed in business are:

- A daily summary of cash receipts, which lists cash sales from the register tape, cash sales slips, or any other cash received during the day, as well as cash collections on account.

- A check disbursement journal, a daily entry of checks drawn on a business checking account, each numbered and listed under the appropriate expense heading, such as rent, interest, payroll, materials and supplies, taxes, etc.

- An income journal, a monthly summary of income activity, showing such items as receipts, sales tax, and cash on hand.

- A depreciation record, kept on a continuous basis, giving a description of the depreciable asset, the date it was acquired, its cost, salvage value and basis, the depreciation method used, and the amount depreciated each year.

- An employee compensation record, kept for each employee, whether full or part-time, recording the number of hours worked in a pay period, his total pay for that period and withheld deductions.

A business checkbook—for most small business, the basic record source for maintaining the books.

Why keep what appear to be elaborate books and records? There are sound business reasons, such as managing efficiently, detecting pilferage, keeping track of profits and inventories, and preparing credit applications. To name a few, the IRS points out.

The tax advantage of keeping good records is no less important.

In addition to resolving IRS audit questions, good records ensure that a business taxpayer takes the full amount of deductions. For example, without a record of the cost and other information about business assets, the depreciation allowance cannot be determined.

If the assets are sold, become fully depreciated, or capital improvements are made to them, only a permanent record will reflect the unrecovered cost. An overlooked deduction also could cost more in extra taxes.

Another tax plus of keeping good business records involves the capital gain and loss provisions of the income tax law.

After the sale or exchange of an asset, the gain may receive preferential tax or the IRS may place certain restrictions on the amount that may be claimed as a loss, depending upon what kind of property it is, how long the taxpayer held it and how the taxpayer disposed of it.

Thus, to take proper advantage of the capital gain and loss provisions, business records should show the acquisition date of an asset, its use and its disposition.

Records help determine true business income by identifying the source of cash and property. While many of these receipts will be taxable, others will not. For example, the issuance of stock, money or property pumped back into the company, loans, appreciation in value of property before a gain is realized, and some exchange of property are a few of the transactions that do not involve income tax.

Without records identifying all receipts, a business person may be unable to substantiate that some are from sources that make them non-taxable.

Finally, good records have a direct bearing on Social Security benefits received upon retirement or disability. Because these benefits are tied to earnings, business records should show the amount of earnings reportable for self-employment Social Security tax purposes.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Thurs., July 18, 1974 Page 48

If a business person needs help in setting up records to take full advantage of such provisions, IRS taxpayer service representatives are available all year long to answer tax questions.

In all areas of the country, taxpayers may call the IRS toll-free. Or, if they prefer, taxpayers may write or visit an IRS office.

Internal Revenue also has many booklets on business record keeping and taxes, such as Publication 583, "Recordkeeping for a Small Business." Most of these publications are free.

The IRS offers a special service for people planning to start a new business. "Your Business Tax Kit" (Publication 454) is a package of the business tax forms and tax publications, specially fashioned to meet personal business needs.

The kit also contains the name, address and telephone number of an IRS taxpayer service representative. It is constructed like a folder to provide a convenient file for storing copies of returns and related records.

Taxpayers starting a new business are told of the availability of the kit when they receive an employee identification number from the IRS.

A business person may simply visit an IRS office to obtain the package, and the IRS will explain its contents and answer any questions. Discussions such as these between a business man or woman and the IRS may help keep some tax deductions from winding up in the IRS gallery of attempted business deductions, the spokesman concluded.
